TRUMAN ASKS PEACE "BULWARKS"

House Foreign Affairs Group Approves ERP

Hopes For Final Okay By April 1 Given Lift

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) — Responding to President Truman's plea for speed, the House Foreign Affairs Committee gave sudden approval today to a $5,300,000,000 European aid program.

It is the same amount approved by the Senate for 12 months of aid to non-Communist nations. It gave an immediate life to hopes of leaders that the House can clear the bill by April 1 — in two weeks.

Action came within five hours after the President had gone before Congress with an appeal for "prompt passage of the program." It also came amid new warnings of Communist danger in Italy where crucial elections will be held April 18.

After a closed door committee session, Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) told reporters that decisions were held up on other foreign aid proposals. The administration has asked $275,000,000 in military aid for Greece and Turkey, and $570,000,000 economic aid for China.

These are part of the same bill. Thus the committee had yet to approve the measure as a whole.

Situation "Urgent"

But the administration's appeal was for speed on the Marshall plan to buck up 16 Western European nations to ward off Communism.

President Truman pointed today to what he termed the "great urgency." He recalled the Red advances in Europe and said that Communist minority is making "a determined and aggressive effort" to rule Italy.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass), of the House, said that if Communists grab power there they will "dominate all of Europe."

Eaton and Rep. Vorys (R-NJ) said the Foreign Affairs Committee directed that $1,000,000,000 of the $5,300,000,000 European aid be in a lending authority for the Export-Import Bank.

Thus Congress would need to appropriate directly only $4,300,000,000.

The committee has been holding hearings on all phases of foreign aid for some time.

It was called back into session tonight to continue work on the measure as a whole. The committee previously expressed intentions of handling all foreign aid in one package. No immediate intention to change this procedure was announced.

Bill Substantially Same

As described to reporters, the broad terms of the European aid plan approved by the House committee appeared to be substantially the same as those in the Senate bill.

Under both bills, $1,000,000,000 in aid could be started immediately from funds of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in anticipation of actual appropriations by Congress. The House committee added the $1,000,000,000 lending authority by the Export-Import Bank which apparently would reduce the immediate appropriation.

FEDERAL COURT ACTION TO BLOCK OAK RIDGE STRIKE SEEMS LIKELY

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—The possibility increased tonight that President Truman would ask federal court action to block a strike at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plant. The strike is set to begin Friday midnight but a federal injunction may be asked by Attorney General Tom Clark at Knoxville, Tenn., as the next step in the emergency procedure established by the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Urgency of the international situation, as pictured by President Truman in his address to Congress today, focused attention anew on the threatened strike.

A full day of negotiations between AFL unions and the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corporation failed to shatter the deadlock over a new contract, federal conciliators said. The talks were recessed at the call of Conciliation Director Cyrus S. Ching, but may be resumed at Oak Ridge Friday as a convenience to the parties.

IRISH ON PARADE—The sidewalks along Fifth Avenue were jammed with spectators yesterday as contingents of marchers swung past St. Patrick's Cathedral (left) between 50th and 51st Streets in New York City's annual St. Patrick's Day parade. Approximately 80,000 persons marched in the traditional celebration with a beaming President Truman, sporting a green carnation in his lapel and a green tie with white dots, among the reviewers.

U.S. Must Build Up Military Strength, Marshall Asserts

Secretary Of State Asks For Draft, UMT

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) — This country must have military strength to back up its diplomacy, Secretary of State Marshall said today.

Without military strength, he told the Senate Armed Services Committee, diplomatic action in the present state of the world can lead only to appeasement.

Marshall asked the committee for universal military training and a temporary draft law. And, he said, a reconsideration of our air program also is necessary.

The committee opened hearings on universal training and draft legislation within two hours after President Truman had appeared in person before Congress to urge the two proposals.

"Total Estimate" Wanted

Sen. Gurney (R-SD), the chairman, said the committee wants "a total estimate not only of world conditions, but our military position generally."

"It is clear that the clouds of war are starting to gather," Gurney remarked. "But, while we are hoping that the storm will not overtake us, common prudence dictates that we also "batten down the hatches' of our defense system."

Marshall said a temporary draft was the only way he knew to bring the armed forces up to full authorized strength quickly. He cited the situation in Korea. There, he said, the army commander had asked for 38,000 troops, but had only been allotted 30,000 by the Army Department.

Refers To European Pact

He testified that even the lower figure was never attained because of a shortage of troops. On the contrary, he told the committee that the Korean commander had 18,000

Cardinal Spellman Favors UMT "As Private Citizen"

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic Archbishop of New York, said tonight he favors universal military training.

He said he favors it "as a private American citizen."

Preceding President Truman to the speakers stand, Cardinal Spellman told the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at their annual dinner that "America is no safer from mastery by Communism than was any European country."

Non-Vets 20-26 May Be Called If Draft Is Revived

Andrews Is In Accord With Truman's Plea

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—If Congress passes a new draft law, 800,000 to 1,000,000 men may be called to the colors, but veterans of World War II probably will be exempt, Chairman Andrews (R-NY), of the House Armed Services Committee, predicted today.

He emphasized that he was not speaking for his committee, which has not yet received any draft legislation from the armed forces.

But he made plain he himself was in accord with President Truman's plea for a draft and universal military training.

If a selective service law is passed this month, Andrews said at a news conference, it could begin pulling fresh manpower into the military forces by July 1. He estimated that the men might be required to serve at least 18 months, and would be picked from the 20 to 26 age group.

Next Move Up To Forrestal

Andrews said his committee will not discuss the draft proposal formally until it has specific recommendations from Secretary of Defense Forrestal, and in no event until next Tuesday, its next meeting day.

He expressed belief the President's call for the draft came as a surprise to his military leaders.

"I have been told that the President's speech was his own idea and that he wrote it himself," Andrews said.

If Congress should decide to permit the drafting of 800,000 to 1,000,000 men it would have to pass legislation raising the authorized strength of the armed forces.

The nation now has 1,392,000 persons in uniform. This is 340,000 short of the full authorized strength of 1,732,000. (In May, 1945, the total was 11,119,000.)

Some of the questions asked today were: What is the difference between a draft and universal military training? How long would it take to get the two working? Who would be affected?

Difference Between Draft, UMT

As to the difference:

Under the draft, youths could be

171 Persons Are Reported Dead In Yugo Mine Blast

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 17—(AP)—The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said tonight 171 persons were killed Sunday in a coal mine explosion at Racha in Yugoslav territory.

Racha, on the Strian Peninsula, is near the Free Territory of Trieste.

Tanjug said it had just received the news and had no further details.

(An Italian organization reported in Trieste that about 300 persons were killed in the blast, which occurred at the Arsa mines.

(The explosion was caused by the careless handling of ammunition, the organization said).

Senate Will Take Up Tax-Reduction Legislation Today

Action Due Despite Presidential Plea

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) — The Senate will begin debate tomorrow on the $4,800,000,000 tax reduction bill despite President Truman's somber plea for a mightier military America.

Republican sponsors of the bill said they saw no reason for not going ahead as planned. Some Democrats, however, believed the President's message to Congress today called for "another look" at the bill.

Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, announced after Mr. Truman's speech that the Senate definitely would take up the legislation tomorrow.

Martin Cites Surplus

He said Mr. Truman's message "presented no reason for not going ahead."

Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) another member of the Finance Committee, agreed. "We've got a surplus sufficient to make a reduction in taxes," he said.

But Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) said: "This changes tax reduction considerations. We are going to need more revenue—not less."

And Rep. Doughton, of North Carolina, senior Democrat on the tax writing Ways and Means Committee, said "we are going to have to take another look at the tax bill."

House Approved Bill

The House already has passed a bill to trim taxes $6,500,000,000. The Senate Finance Committee whittled this figure down to $4,800,000,000.

The committee trimmed the House figure in an effort to win enough Democratic votes to override an expected presidential veto.

The Senate tomorrow will begin a debate on whether to approve this figure, or a lower one, around $4,000,000,000, asked by Democrats.

The Senate measure as it now stands provides cuts ranging from 12.6 per cent for the lowest income taxpayers to five per cent in the highest brackets.

BEIRUT, Lebanon, March 17. (AP)—Arab leaders said today there would be no truce in Palestine until the plan to partition the Holy Land was abandoned.

United Nations Council Votes To Air Charges

Soviet Objections Are Beaten Down

LAKE SUCCESS, March 17 (AP)—The Security Council beat down bitter Soviet objections today and began probing into the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia.

The vote to take up the case was 9 to 2. Seven affirmative votes were needed.

Only Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, and his Soviet Ukrainian colleague, Vassily A. Tarasenko, voted no.

The United Nations thus began a full airing of Chilean charges against Russia a few hours after President Truman told Congress in Washington that Russia is trying to dominate all of Europe.

"Propaganda" Says Gromyko

Just before the council convened Gromyko told reporters he considered President Truman's speech to be "propaganda mainly for internal consumption."

Mr. Truman's address plainly overshadowed the tense developments here. The largest crowd to attend a council meeting in months applauded three separate times as delegates answered Gromyko and Tarasenko.

The complaint against Russia was brought before the council by Hernan Santa Cruz, Chilean delegate and vice president of the United Nations Economic and Social Council, on the personal and direct orders of the President of Chile.

Debate Resumes Monday

Gromyko lost no time telling the council that the complaint was "pure slander." Gromyko charged that "influential external circles" were acting through "puppets" and 'lackeys" to bring the Czechoslovak case here.

Santa Cruz, Warren R. Austin of the United States, Dr. Alfonso Lopez of Columbia and Dr. T. F. Tsiang of China teamed up in a sharp rebuke to Gromyko for using what they called aggressive language.

The council adjourned the Czechoslovak debate until 2:30 p. m. (EST) Monday after hearing Santa Cruz declare Chile does not want the United Nations to suffer the same fate as the League of Nations.

10 Arabs Killed In Blast

JERUSALEM, March 17 (AP)—Jews manning a road block near Haifa today blew up an Arab truck packed with explosives, killing 10 Arabs and wounding 48 other persons, police said.

The wounded included 39 Jews, seven Arabs and two British soldiers. Many of the victims were believed to be passersby. The soldiers were riding on a passing truck. Seven Arabs and 10 Jews were in serious condition.

The blast occurred when the Jews fired on the truck, one of three vehicles in a convoy. The explosion left a crater 40 feet in diameter, caused electric cables to collapse and damaged nearby houses. The other two vehicles in the convoy were wrecked.

Northern Greek Cities Shelled By Guerrillas

ATHENS, March 17. (AP)—The Greek general staff announced tonight that guerrillas shelled the Northern Greek cities of Xanthe and Comitini. Four persons were killed and eight were injured.

The communique said 100 shells fell in Xanthe, northeast of Salonika, last night and 200 in Comotini. Comotini is a city of 30,000.

3rd Floor Dance Hall Collapses

One Reported Dead, 100 Others Injured

CHICAGO, March 17 (AP) — One woman was reported killed tonight and 100 other persons injured, police estimated when a section of a third floor dance hall caved in during a St. Patrick's Day fete.

The dance hall was in a building occupied by the Lakeview Bowling alley at 3239 N. Clark Street. An attempt at the Illinois Masonic Hospital, where the victims were taken, said there were "too many" injured being brought there to estimate their number. She said she believed there was one dead.

The hospital issued a call for extra nurses and doctors.

1,200 In Dance Hall

Louis Bianchi, a tavern-keeper near the scene, said the "roof came down first. It just sort of caved inward. There were 1,200 people in the dance hall—men, women and children. Their weight on the floor just sort of pulled the roof in on top of them."

Bianchi said ambulances were lined up for a block at the scene. He said there was "no fire, but there were a lot of casualties."

"Ambulances are going by to the hospital right along," he said.

Bianchi added that a priest from nearby St. Sebastian's Church had been summoned to the scene.

Gilbert Brecheisen and his wife, Elizabeth, were in the bowling alley on the second floor of the three-story building.

Brecheisen said he heard a "dull thud with a tinny sound." He then looked and saw that a section of the third-floor dance floor had caved in.

Others Believed Trapped

Brecheisen said he saw several "injured and bleeding" persons and believed there were others still trapped in the debris.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 soon gathered in front of the building which fronts 300 feet on North Clark Street. The section is the busy Belmont area.

Alexian Hospital said they had one injured, Michale Clancy, 56, he was treated for bruises and released.

The dance was sponsored by the Connaughtmen Irish Club.

Columbus Hospital reported that it had three women and one young girl injured but all will be released after first aid treatment.

Military Aid Pact Is Signed By Five European Nations

Truman Swiftly Endorses Treaty

BRUSSELS, March 17. (AP)—Five European nations today entered into a 50-year partnership to defend their democratic way of life against any aggressor, with arms if necessary. President Truman swiftly endorsed it.

Against a background of rapid Communist expansion in the East, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg bound themselves in a military, political and economic treaty which laid the cornerstone for an even wider European union.

Mr. Truman told the American Congress he was confident the United States would, by appropriate means, extend them the support the situation requires. He added:

"I am sure that the determination of the free countries of Europe to protect themselves will be matched by an equal determination on our part to help them do so."

The pact created a "consultative council" to consider any situation which may constitute a threat to the peace anywhere in the world. Four of the signers — Britain, France, the Netherlands and Belgium—are the world's greatest colonial powers.

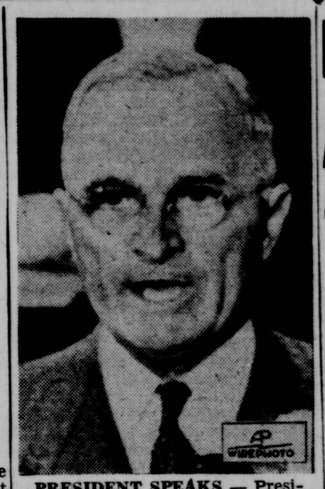

Defense was only part of the pact. Far-reaching economic co-ordination was envisaged which one signer said would bind the countries together to make their power equal to any others—such as the United States and Russia.

Its purpose did not stop there. Both Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Georges Bidault of France hailed it as the foundation of future developments and the cornerstone of European rebirth.

The pact was signed at 5:04 p. m. (11:05 a. m. EST) in the solemn sessions hall of the Palace of Acadames. Besides Bevin and Bidault the other foreign ministers who signed were Joseph Bech of Luxembourg, Baron C. C. W. Van Boetzelaer of the Netherlands and Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium.

Soviet-Swiss Pact

MOSCOW, March 17. (AP)—Switzerland and the Soviet Union signed a trade agreement today. Details will be announced tomorrow.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS — President Truman, addressing a joint session of Congress yesterday, asked for a temporary draft law and universal military training as well as speedy enactment of the European aid program.

Government Enters Coal Mine Tieup

Congressional Group Requests "All Facts"

WASHINGTON, March 17—(AP)—Both the Federal Conciliation Service and Congress' Labor Relations "Watchdog Committee" moved in today on the coal shutdown.

The congressional group headed by Sen. Ball (R-Minn) called for "all facts" from both sides within 48 hours.

Ball said the committee needed the material to decide "what further steps it should take in the matter."

Cyrus S. Ching, head of the Conciliation Service, called on John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, and Ezra Van Horn, spokesman for the operators, to meet with him separately tomorrow.

Ching will meet with Van Horn in the conciliation office at 9:30 a. m. (EST). He plans to lunch with Lewis at the Carlton Hotel at 12:30 p. m.

Ball, on behalf of the Senate-House group, said he wired Lewis and Van Horn his request for information yesterday.

Ball did not say what "further action" might follow, but told newsmen:

"The committee wishes to be fully advised as to all the facts and events leading to the current dispute, and factual developments as they occur."

He said the committee had been instructed specifically to report to Congress on the "general subject of welfare funds."

A welfare fund is the point of contention in the coal mine walkout that has already made heavy inroads on the nation's fuel supplies.

FACT-FINDERS TACKLE MEAT WORKERS' STRIKE

CHICAGO, March 17 (AP)—A fact-finding board created under the Taft-Hartley Act tackled the meat strike today. Meanwhile meat prices soared in the wholesale markets for the third day in a row.

Retail prices already have started up in Chicago—the hub of the packing industry — and increases were in prospect soon for other areas.

As the nationwide strike of 100,000 CIO meathandlers went into its second day, these were the major developments:

1.—The government fact-finding board held a closed session here and boned up on the background of the dispute. Tomorrow, the board will meet with members of both sides in the dispute.

2—The nation's meat supply began shrinking sharply as farmers cut their shipment of animals to market to about one-third of a week ago.

3—A spokesman for Armour, one of the gig four packers, said limited production had been resumed in 11 of the big four packers, said limited "some" strikers returned to their jobs.

New Draft Law And UMT Urged 'To Avert War'

USSR Called Threat To World's Liberties

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) — President Truman proclaimed this country "the principal protector of the free world" today and called for full military strength, backed by a new draft law, to give force to his declaration.

Mr. Truman said "the very existence of democracy" is threatened by Communist expansion. The time has come, he said, to "join our strength with the strength of other free men the world over" to stop it.

With scorn and indignation in his voice, the President accused "one nation"—Russia—of trying to sabotage the peace and of seeking to spread totalitarian rule over the still-free democracies of Western Europe.

These countries, the President said, we must support with our full strength—"military, economic and moral."

Situation Is "Critical"

He said the situation in Europe is "critical." And he warned that the United States in the coming year, may have to take risks "greater than any this country has been called upon to assume."

But he declared:

"We must be prepared to pay the price of peace or assuredly we shall pay the price of war."

The President's grim, far-reaching extension of his "Truman Doctrine" came in two installments. He addressed a joint session of Congress at 12:30 p. m., EST, and then flew to New York to speak at a St. Patrick's Day dinner.

He recommended to Congress three "most urgent steps toward securing the peace and preventing war":

1. Quick adoption of the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program. Congress stepped up action on that right away.

2. Universal military training — for all young men. Congress was divided on that, although there was some strong support for it in the Senate especially.

3. Selective service — to give the armed forces the men they need, presumably non-veterans up to the age of 26 or so, until UMT gets rolling. Many members of Congress had their doubts. They asked for further proof that it is necessary.

"Tyranny Versus Freedom"

In his New York speech, prepared for the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, Mr. Truman declared that the issue confronting the world today "is as old as recorded history."

"It is tyranny versus freedom," he said.

And by tyranny, the President said, he meant Communism—which he assailed as a denial of God and of man's right to govern himself.

It was there that he declared: "With few exceptions, our people now understand that the United States has become the principal protector of the free world."

To Congress, Mr. Truman said gravely:

"The time has come when the free men and women of the world must face the threat to their liberty squarely and courageously x x x

"We must be prepared to pay the price of peace or assuredly we shall pay the price of war."

JAMES PETRILLO, RADIO NETWORKS REPORTEDLY HAVE REACHED ACCORD

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP) — James C. Petrillo and the radio networks were reported to have reached agreement on a new contract.

A source close to the negotiations between the networks and Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, said terms of the agreement probably would be announced tomorrow.

It was not disclosed whether the contract will provide for lifting the AFL union's ban on live music for television. However, Petrillo previously had expressed his belief that an agreement could be worked out to lift the ban, in effect since 1946.

Legislators Back Truman On ERP, Differ On UMT And Reviving Draft

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) — The European recovery plan?

Certainly.

Revival of the draft, and universal military training?

Maybe . . . Let the military leaders make a case for them.

That, boiled down, was the general reaction of lawmakers today to President Truman's three major recommendations in his St. Patrick's Day address to a joint session of Congress.

Some senators, including Taft, of Ohio, and Democrats Ellender, of Louisiana; McClellan, of Arkansas, and Edwin C. Johnson, of Colorado, said they were disappointed that Mr. Truman didn't recommend immediate steps to build up the Air Force.

Chairman Eaton (R-NJ), of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and Rep Wadsworth (R-NY), author of the wartime draft law, quickly endorsed the draft and UMT proposals.

But Chairman Leo Allen (R-Ill.), of the House Rules Committee, said the message "didn't change a thing." Allen's committee has refused since last summer to send UMT legislation to the House floor.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who piloted the ERP bill through the Senate, said that "if we do not have the minimum of national armed security, we must provide them by the most available means."

"This is no moment for hysteria," he said. "But it is a moment for straight thinking and prudent action."

Ohio's Sen. Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said "the President has stated well our determination to do everything possible and practicable to stop the spread of Communism. The means which he proposes will be given careful consideration."

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, said however "I had hoped we'd stop shaking our fist at Russia with one hand and patting her on the back with the other."

Sen. Connally, of Texas, No. 1 Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee, expressed sympathy with the President's policies, but Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) complained that Mr. Truman ought to let Congress and the people know "exactly what our foreign policy is."

Rep. Marcantonio, American-Labor Party member from New York, called the speech "a cheap piece of soap opera and an attempt to cause hysteria."

Boston "Invaded" In Mock Ceremony By "MacArthur"

BOSTON, March 17. (AP)—Boston was "invaded" in a mock ceremony today by "Gen. MacArthur."

The "invasion" was carried out by members of veterans against MacArthur from Boston University, Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology on the shores of the ice-filled Charles River.

"MacArthur," impersonated by William Burke of B. U., waded ashore from a rowboat smoking a corn cob pipe and waving a greeting with a swagger stick. He was dressed in a GI uniform and wearing a garrison cap decorated with cut-out silver stars.

As he landed, the "General" was met by an "army censor" ready with his typewriter, a "marine," four geisha "girls" carrying Jap flags, and a "Japanese surf boy" clad only in a pair of tights and a large straw hat.

More than 100 students from the three colleges witnessed the mock demonstration near the Harvard bridge. Late afternoon traffic was delayed on the bridge as motorists drove slowly to catch a glimpse of the "landing."

Three co-chairmen, representing each of the schools, said:

"Our rally today directly protests MacArthur's censorship and demonstrates that Dugout Doug shall not land on the East Coast."

They said they represent veterans of their schools as well as those of 14 other eastern colleges who have "banded together to prevent his nomination."

The trio added they have 15,000 signatures "to blast the lie that Dashing Doug is the veterans' darling."

Truman Asserts Wallace Support Is Unacceptable

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—President Truman departed from a prepared speech on national and international affairs tonight to declare he will not under any circumstances accept political support from Henry A. Wallace.

Mr. Truman, who has announced he will seek to return to the presidency, said if the "price" of his victory depended on Wallace "and his Communists" he would just as soon be defeated.

Wallace, after breaking away from the Democratic fold to seek the presidency on a third party ticket, has said he would return under certain conditions. These included the dropping of President Truman's foreign policy.

The former Vice President and Cabinet member, whom Truman fired as Secretary of Commerce over a foreign policy speech Wallace made at Madison Square Garden here, declined comment on Truman's assertion tonight.

But a spokesman said he had sent telegrams to the four major radio networks asking them to "please advise me immediately when I can have equal facilities to those given Hary Truman for his personal and political attack on me and the millions of Americans who support our program for peace."

Wallace already had been scheduled to speak over the ABC network at 10:45 p. m. (EST) tomorrow night on the subject: "Wallace Answers Truman."

Mr. Truman veered from his prepared text while addressing 2,500 Irish-Americans attending a St. Patrick's Day dinner of the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

TRUMAN ASKS PEACE "BULWARKS"

Hopes For Final Okay By April 1 Given Lift

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) — Responding to President Truman's plea for speed, the House Foreign Affairs Committee gave sudden approval today to a $5,300,000,000 European aid program.

It is the same amount approved by the Senate for 12 months of aid to non-Communist nations. It gave an immediate life to hopes of leaders that the House can clear the bill by April 1 — in two weeks.

Action came within five hours after the President had gone before Congress with an appeal for "prompt passage of the program." It also came amid new warnings of Communist danger in Italy where crucial elections will be held April 18.

After a closed door committee session, Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) told reporters that decisions were held up on other foreign aid proposals. The administration has asked $275,000,000 in military aid for Greece and Turkey, and $570,000,000 economic aid for China.

These are part of the same bill. Thus the committee had yet to approve the measure as a whole.

Situation "Urgent"

But the administration's appeal was for speed on the Marshall plan to buck up 16 Western European nations to ward off Communism.

President Truman pointed today to what he termed the "great urgency." He recalled the Red advances in Europe and said that Communist minority is making "a determined and aggressive effort" to rule Italy.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass), of the House, said that if Communists grab power there they will "dominate all of Europe."

Eaton and Rep. Vorys (R-NJ) said the Foreign Affairs Committee directed that $1,000,000,000 of the $5,300,000,000 European aid be in a lending authority for the Export-Import Bank.

Thus Congress would need to appropriate directly only $4,300,000,000.

The committee has been holding hearings on all phases of foreign aid for some time.

It was called back into session tonight to continue work on the measure as a whole. The committee previously expressed intentions of handling all foreign aid in one package. No immediate intention to change this procedure was announced.

Bill Substantially Same

As described to reporters, the broad terms of the European aid plan approved by the House committee appeared to be substantially the same as those in the Senate bill.

Under both bills, $1,000,000,000 in aid could be started immediately from funds of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in anticipation of actual appropriations by Congress. The House committee added the $1,000,000,000 lending authority by the Export-Import Bank which apparently would reduce the immediate appropriation.

FEDERAL COURT ACTION TO BLOCK OAK RIDGE STRIKE SEEMS LIKELY

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—The possibility increased tonight that President Truman would ask federal court action to block a strike at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plant. The strike is set to begin Friday midnight but a federal injunction may be asked by Attorney General Tom Clark at Knoxville, Tenn., as the next step in the emergency procedure established by the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Urgency of the international situation, as pictured by President Truman in his address to Congress today, focused attention anew on the threatened strike.

A full day of negotiations between AFL unions and the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corporation failed to shatter the deadlock over a new contract, federal conciliators said. The talks were recessed at the call of Conciliation Director Cyrus S. Ching, but may be resumed at Oak Ridge Friday as a convenience to the parties.

"Propaganda" Says Gromyko

Just before the council convened Gromyko told reporters he considered President Truman's speech to be "propaganda mainly for internal consumption."

Mr. Truman's address plainly overshadowed the tense developments here. The largest crowd to attend a council meeting in months applauded three separate times as delegates answered Gromyko and Tarasenko.

The complaint against Russia was brought before the council by Hernan Santa Cruz, Chilean delegate and vice president of the United Nations Economic and Social Council, on the personal and direct orders of the President of Chile.

Debate Resumes Monday

Gromyko lost no time telling the council that the complaint was "pure slander." Gromyko charged that "influential external circles" were acting through "puppets" and "lackeys" to bring the Czechoslovak case here.

Santa Cruz, Warren R. Austin of the United States, Dr. Alfonso Lopez of Columbia and Dr. T. F. Tsiang of China teamed up in a sharp rebuke to Gromyko for using what they called aggressive language.

The council adjourned the Czechoslovak debate until 2:30 p. m. (EST) Monday after hearing Santa Cruz declare Chile does not want the United Nations to suffer the same fate as the League of Nations.

10 Arabs Killed In Blast

JERUSALEM, March 17 (AP)—Jews manning a road block near Haifa today blew up an Arab truck packed with explosives, killing 10 Arabs and wounding 48 other persons, police said.

The wounded included 39 Jews, seven Arabs and two British soldiers. Many of the victims were believed to be passersby. The soldiers were riding on a passing truck. Seven Arabs and 10 Jews were in serious condition.

The blast occurred when the Jews fired on the truck, one of three vehicles in a convoy. The explosion left a crater 40 feet in diameter, caused electric cables to collapse and damaged nearby houses. The other two vehicles in the convoy were wrecked.

3rd Floor Dance Hall Collapses

One Reported Dead, 100 Others Injured

CHICAGO, March 17 (AP) — One woman was reported killed tonight and 100 other persons injured, police estimated when a section of a third floor dance hall caved in during a St. Patrick's Day fete.

The dance hall was in a building occupied by the Lakeview Bowling alley at 3239 N. Clark Street. An attempt at the Illinois Masonic Hospital, where the victims were taken, said there were "too many" injured being brought there to estimate their number. She said she believed there was one dead.

The hospital issued a call for extra nurses and doctors.

1,200 In Dance Hall

Louis Bianchi, a tavern-keeper near the scene, said the "roof came down first. It just sort of caved inward. There were 1,200 people in the dance hall—men, women and children. Their weight on the floor just sort of pulled the roof in on top of them."

Bianchi said ambulances were lined up for a block at the scene. He said there was "no fire, but there were a lot of casualties."

"Ambulances are going by to the hospital right along," he said.

Bianchi added that a priest from nearby St. Sebastian's Church had been summoned to the scene.

Gilbert Brecheisen and his wife, Elizabeth, were in the bowling alley on the second floor of the three-story building.

Brecheisen said he heard a "dull thud with a tinny sound." He then looked and saw that a section of the third-floor dance floor had caved in.

Others Believed Trapped

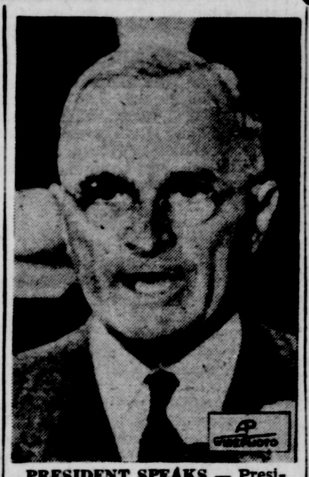

Brecheisen said he saw several "injured and bleeding" persons and believed there were others still trapped in the debris.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 soon gathered in front of the building which fronts 300 feet on North Clark Street. The section is the busy Belmont area.

Alexian Hospital said they had one injured, Michale Clancy, 56, he was treated for bruises and released.

The dance was sponsored by the Connaughtmen Irish Club.

Columbus Hospital reported that it had three women and one young girl injured but all will be released after first aid treatment.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS — President Truman, addressing a joint session of Congress yesterday, asked for a temporary draft law and universal military training as well as speedy enactment of the European aid program.

Government Enters Coal Mine Tieup

Congressional Group Requests "All Facts"

WASHINGTON, March 17—(AP)—Both the Federal Conciliation Service and Congress' Labor Relations "Watchdog Committee" moved in today on the coal shutdown.

The congressional group headed by Sen. Ball (R-Minn) called for "all facts" from both sides within 48 hours.

Ball said the committee needed the material to decide "what further steps it should take in the matter."

Cyrus S. Ching, head of the Conciliation Service, called on John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, and Ezra Van Horn, spokesman for the operators, to meet with him separately tomorrow.

Ching will meet with Van Horn in the conciliation office at 9:30 a. m. (EST). He plans to lunch with Lewis at the Carlton Hotel at 12:30 p. m.

Ball, on behalf of the Senate-House group, said he wired Lewis and Van Horn his request for information yesterday.

Ball did not say what "further action" might follow, but told newsmen:

"The committee wishes to be fully advised as to all the facts and events leading to the current dispute, and factual developments as they occur."

He said the committee had been instructed specifically to report to Congress on the "general subject of welfare funds."

A welfare fund is the point of contention in the coal mine walkout that has already made heavy inroads on the nation's fuel supplies.

FACT-FINDERS TACKLE MEAT WORKERS' STRIKE

CHICAGO, March 17 (AP)—A fact-finding board created under the Taft-Hartley Act tackled the meat strike today. Meanwhile meat prices soared in the wholesale markets for the third day in a row.

Retail prices already have started up in Chicago—the hub of the packing industry — and increases were in prospect soon for other areas.

As the nationwide strike of 100,000 CIO meathandlers went into its second day, these were the major developments:

1.—The government fact-finding board held a closed session here and boned up on the background of the dispute. Tomorrow, the board will meet with members of both sides in the dispute.

2—The nation's meat supply began shrinking sharply as farmers cut their shipment of animals to market to about one-third of a week ago.

3—A spokesman for Armour, one of the gig four packers, said limited production had been resumed in 11 of the big four packers, said limited "some" strikers returned to their jobs.

New Draft Law And UMT Urged 'To Avert War'

USSR Called Threat To World's Liberties

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) — President Truman proclaimed this country "the principal protector of the free world" today and called for full military strength, backed by a new draft law, to give force to his declaration.

Mr. Truman said "the very existence of democracy" is threatened by Communist expansion. The time has come, he said, to "join our strength with the strength of other free men the world over" to stop it.

With scorn and indignation in his voice, the President accused "one nation"—Russia—of trying to sabotage the peace and of seeking to spread totalitarian rule over the still-free democracies of Western Europe.

These countries, the President said, we must support with our full strength—"military, economic and moral."

Situation Is "Critical"

He said the situation in Europe is "critical." And he warned that the United States in the coming year, may have to take risks "greater than any this country has been called upon to assume."

But he declared:

"We must be prepared to pay the price of peace or assuredly we shall pay the price of war."

The President's grim, far-reaching extension of his "Truman Doctrine" came in two installments. He addressed a joint session of Congress at 12:30 p. m., EST, and then flew to New York to speak at a St. Patrick's Day dinner.

He recommended to Congress three "most urgent steps toward securing the peace and preventing war":

1. Quick adoption of the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program. Congress stepped up action on that right away.

2. Universal military training — for all young men. Congress was divided on that, although there was some strong support for it in the Senate especially.

3. Selective service — to give the armed forces the men they need, presumably non-veterans up to the age of 26 or so, until UMT gets rolling. Many members of Congress had their doubts. They asked for further proof that it is necessary.

"Tyranny Versus Freedom"

In his New York speech, prepared for the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, Mr. Truman declared that the issue confronting the world today "is as old as recorded history."

"It is tyranny versus freedom," he said.

And by tyranny, the President said, he meant Communism—which he assailed as a denial of God and of man's right to govern himself.

It was there that he declared: "With few exceptions, our people now understand that the United States has become the principal protector of the free world."

To Congress, Mr. Truman said gravely:

"The time has come when the free men and women of the world must face the threat to their liberty squarely and courageously x x x

"We must be prepared to pay the price of peace or assuredly we shall pay the price of war."

JAMES PETRILLO, RADIO NETWORKS REPORTEDLY HAVE REACHED ACCORD

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP) — James C. Petrillo and the radio networks were reported to have reached agreement on a new contract.

A source close to the negotiations between the networks and Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, said terms of the agreement probably would be announced tomorrow.

It was not disclosed whether the contract will provide for lifting the AFL union's ban on live music for television. However, Petrillo previously had expressed his belief that an agreement could be worked out to lift the ban, in effect since 1946.

U.S. Must Build Up Military Strength, Marshall Asserts

Secretary Of State Asks For Draft, UMT

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) — This country must have military strength to back up its diplomacy, Secretary of State Marshall said today.

Without military strength, he told the Senate Armed Services Committee, diplomatic action in the present state of the world can lead only to appeasement.

Marshall asked the committee for universal military training and a temporary draft law. And, he said, a reconsideration of our air program also is necessary.

The committee opened hearings on universal training and draft legislation within two hours after President Truman had appeared in person before Congress to urge the two proposals.

"Total Estimate" Wanted

Sen. Gurney (R-SD), the chairman, said the committee wants "a total estimate not only of world conditions, but our military position generally."

"It is clear that the clouds of war are starting to gather," Gurney remarked. "But, while we are hoping that the storm will not overtake us, common prudence dictates that we also "batten down the hatches' of our defense system."

Marshall said a temporary draft was the only way he knew to bring the armed forces up to full authorized strength quickly. He cited the situation in Korea. There, he said, the army commander had asked for 38,000 troops, but had only been allotted 30,000 by the Army Department.

Refers To European Pact

He testified that even the lower figure was never attained because of a shortage of troops. On the contrary, he told the committee that the Korean commander had 18,000

Cardinal Spellman Favors UMT "As Private Citizen"

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic Archbishop of New York, said tonight he favors universal military training.

He said he favors it "as a private American citizen."

Preceding President Truman to the speakers stand, Cardinal Spellman told the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at their annual dinner that "America is no safer from mastery by Communism than was any European country."

Non-Vets 20-26 May Be Called If Draft Is Revived

Andrews Is In Accord With Truman's Plea

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—If Congress passes a new draft law, 800,000 to 1,000,000 men may be called to the colors, but veterans of World War II probably will be exempt, Chairman Andrews (R-NY), of the House Armed Services Committee, predicted today.

He emphasized that he was not speaking for his committee, which has not yet received any draft legislation from the armed forces.

But he made plain he himself was in accord with President Truman's plea for a draft and universal military training.

If a selective service law is passed this month, Andrews said at a news conference, it could begin pulling fresh manpower into the military forces by July 1. He estimated that the men might be required to serve at least 18 months, and would be picked from the 20 to 26 age group.

Next Move Up To Forrestal

Andrews said his committee will not discuss the draft proposal formally until it has specific recommendations from Secretary of Defense Forrestal, and in no event until next Tuesday, its next meeting day.

He expressed belief the President's call for the draft came as a surprise to his military leaders.

"I have been told that the President's speech was his own idea and that he wrote it himself," Andrews said.

If Congress should decide to permit the drafting of 800,000 to 1,000,000 men it would have to pass legislation raising the authorized strength of the armed forces.

The nation now has 1,392,000 persons in uniform. This is 340,000 short of the full authorized strength of 1,732,000. (In May, 1945, the total was 11,119,000.)

Some of the questions asked today were: What is the difference between a draft and universal military training? How long would it take to get the two working? Who would be affected?

171 Persons Are Reported Dead In Yugo Mine Blast

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 17—(AP)—The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said tonight 171 persons were killed Sunday in a coal mine explosion at Racha in Yugoslav territory.

Racha, on the Strian Peninsula, is near the Free Territory of Trieste.

Tanjug said it had just received the news and had no further details.

(An Italian organization reported in Trieste that about 300 persons were killed in the blast, which occurred at the Arsa mines.

(The explosion was caused by the careless handling of ammunition, the organization said).

Senate Will Take Up Tax-Reduction Legislation Today

Action Due Despite Presidential Plea

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) — The Senate will begin debate tomorrow on the $4,800,000,000 tax reduction bill despite President Truman's somber plea for a mightier military America.

Republican sponsors of the bill said they saw no reason for not going ahead as planned. Some Democrats, however, believed the President's message to Congress today called for "another look" at the bill.

Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, announced after Mr. Truman's speech that the Senate definitely would take up the legislation tomorrow.

Martin Cites Surplus

He said Mr. Truman's message "presented no reason for not going ahead."

Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) another member of the Finance Committee, agreed. "We've got a surplus sufficient to make a reduction in taxes," he said.

But Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) said: "This changes tax reduction considerations. We are going to need more revenue—not less."

And Rep. Doughton, of North Carolina, senior Democrat on the tax writing Ways and Means Committee, said "we are going to have to take another look at the tax bill."

House Approved Bill

The House already has passed a bill to trim taxes $6,500,000,000. The Senate Finance Committee whittled this figure down to $4,800,000,000.

The committee trimmed the House figure in an effort to win enough Democratic votes to override an expected presidential veto.

The Senate tomorrow will begin a debate on whether to approve this figure, or a lower one, around $4,000,000,000, asked by Democrats.

The Senate measure as it now stands provides cuts ranging from 12.6 per cent for the lowest income taxpayers to five per cent in the highest brackets.

Northern Greek Cities Shelled By Guerrillas

ATHENS, March 17. (AP)—The Greek general staff announced tonight that guerrillas shelled the Northern Greek cities of Xanthe and Comitini. Four persons were killed and eight were injured.

The communique said 100 shells fell in Xanthe, northeast of Salonika, last night and 200 in Comotini. Comotini is a city of 30,000.

Legislators Back Truman On ERP, Differ On UMT And Reviving Draft

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) — The European recovery plan?

Certainly.

Revival of the draft, and universal military training?

Maybe . . . Let the military leaders make a case for them.

That, boiled down, was the general reaction of lawmakers today to President Truman's three major recommendations in his St. Patrick's Day address to a joint session of Congress.

Some senators, including Taft, of Ohio, and Democrats Ellender, of Louisiana; McClellan, of Arkansas, and Edwin C. Johnson, of Colorado, said they were disappointed that Mr. Truman didn't recommend immediate steps to build up the Air Force.

Chairman Eaton (R-NJ), of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and Rep Wadsworth (R-NY), author of the wartime draft law, quickly endorsed the draft and UMT proposals.

But Chairman Leo Allen (R-Ill.), of the House Rules Committee, said the message "didn't change a thing." Allen's committee has refused since last summer to send UMT legislation to the House floor.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who piloted the ERP bill through the Senate, said that "if we do not have the minimum of national armed security, we must provide them by the most available means."

"This is no moment for hysteria," he said. "But it is a moment for straight thinking and prudent action."

Ohio's Sen. Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said "the President has stated well our determination to do everything possible and practicable to stop the spread of Communism. The means which he proposes will be given careful consideration."

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, said however "I had hoped we'd stop shaking our fist at Russia with one hand and patting her on the back with the other."

Sen. Connally, of Texas, No. 1 Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee, expressed sympathy with the President's policies, but Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) complained that Mr. Truman ought to let Congress and the people know "exactly what our foreign policy is."

Rep. Marcantonio, American-Labor Party member from New York, called the speech "a cheap piece of soap opera and an attempt to cause hysteria."

Military Aid Pact Is Signed By Five European Nations

Truman Swiftly Endorses Treaty

BRUSSELS, March 17. (AP)—Five European nations today entered into a 50-year partnership to defend their democratic way of life against any aggressor, with arms if necessary. President Truman swiftly endorsed it.

Against a background of rapid Communist expansion in the East, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg bound themselves in a military, political and economic treaty which laid the cornerstone for an even wider European union.

Mr. Truman told the American Congress he was confident the United States would, by appropriate means, extend them the support the situation requires. He added:

"I am sure that the determination of the free countries of Europe to protect themselves will be matched by an equal determination on our part to help them do so."

The pact created a "consultative council" to consider any situation which may constitute a threat to the peace anywhere in the world. Four of the signers — Britain, France, the Netherlands and Belgium—are the world's greatest colonial powers.

Defense was only part of the pact. Far-reaching economic co-ordination was envisaged which one signer said would bind the countries together to make their power equal to any others—such as the United States and Russia.

Its purpose did not stop there. Both Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Georges Bidault of France hailed it as the foundation of future developments and the cornerstone of European rebirth.

The pact was signed at 5:04 p. m. (11:05 a. m. EST) in the solemn sessions hall of the Palace of Acadames. Besides Bevin and Bidault the other foreign ministers who signed were Joseph Bech of Luxembourg, Baron C. C. W. Van Boetzelaer of the Netherlands and Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium.

Boston "Invaded" In Mock Ceremony By "MacArthur"

BOSTON, March 17. (AP)—Boston was "invaded" in a mock ceremony today by "Gen. MacArthur."

The "invasion" was carried out by members of veterans against MacArthur from Boston University, Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology on the shores of the ice-filled Charles River.

"MacArthur," impersonated by William Burke of B. U., waded ashore from a rowboat smoking a corn cob pipe and waving a greeting with a swagger stick. He was dressed in a GI uniform and wearing a garrison cap decorated with cut-out silver stars.

As he landed, the "General" was met by an "army censor" ready with his typewriter, a "marine," four geisha "girls" carrying Jap flags, and a "Japanese surf boy" clad only in a pair of tights and a large straw hat.

More than 100 students from the three colleges witnessed the mock demonstration near the Harvard bridge. Late afternoon traffic was delayed on the bridge as motorists drove slowly to catch a glimpse of the "landing."

Three co-chairmen, representing each of the schools, said:

"Our rally today directly protests MacArthur's censorship and demonstrates that Dugout Doug shall not land on the East Coast."

They said they represent veterans of their schools as well as those of 14 other eastern colleges who have "banded together to prevent his nomination."

The trio added they have 15,000 signatures "to blast the lie that Dashing Doug is the veterans' darling."

Truman Asserts Wallace Support Is Unacceptable

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—President Truman departed from a prepared speech on national and international affairs tonight to declare he will not under any circumstances accept political support from Henry A. Wallace.

Mr. Truman, who has announced he will seek to return to the presidency, said if the "price" of his victory depended on Wallace "and his Communists" he would just as soon be defeated.

Wallace, after breaking away from the Democratic fold to seek the presidency on a third party ticket, has said he would return under certain conditions. These included the dropping of President Truman's foreign policy.

The former Vice President and Cabinet member, whom Truman fired as Secretary of Commerce over a foreign policy speech Wallace made at Madison Square Garden here, declined comment on Truman's assertion tonight.

But a spokesman said he had sent telegrams to the four major radio networks asking them to "please advise me immediately when I can have equal facilities to those given Hary Truman for his personal and political attack on me and the millions of Americans who support our program for peace."

Wallace already had been scheduled to speak over the ABC network at 10:45 p. m. (EST) tomorrow night on the subject: "Wallace Answers Truman."

Mr. Truman veered from his prepared text while addressing 2,500 Irish-Americans attending a St. Patrick's Day dinner of the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

Big Powers Near Accord On Report On Holy Land War

Conclusions Will Be Given Council Friday

LAKE SUCCESS, March 17 (AP)—The big powers were reported in virtual agreement tonight on a compromise report covering the fighting in Palestine.

A United Nations press officer said delegates of the United States, Russia, France and China have drafted a set of joint conclusions to present to the Security Council Friday morning. He said the near agreement was reached at a two-hour session tonight and that only a minor point remained unresolved.

It was understood that the compromise conclusions were pushed through after efforts for Jewish-Arab conciliation or a truce failed.

The press officer, who attended the closed meeting, said the conclusions included these basic points:

1—The Security Council would make it clear that it is determined not to permit the existence of a threat to peace in Palestine.

2—The Security Council would take every step within its power to end violence and disorder in the Holy Land.

The report was described as preliminary to later big power efforts on what to do about the situation.

Britain boycotted tonight's big power meeting as usual but it was believed that any suggestions carrying the support of the other four major countries would be adopted by the 11-nation council.

Steel Cutbacks Begin

PITTSBURGH, March 17—(AP)—The steel industry's first cutback as a result of the three-day-old soft coal walkout came today.

The Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company announced the banking of a blast furnace at its Briar Hill plant at Youngstown, O., to conserve fuel.

Other steel companies would soon be forced to follow suit. The Sharon Steel Corporation said it will bank one blast furnace and five open hearths at its Farrell, Pa., plant. The Bethlehem Steel Company announced it will cut back in a few days if the walkout continues.

With all their coal mines completely closed in the Pittsburgh area since yesterday, other steelmakers watched the situation closely.

Only a few scattered soft coal mines were still working. The list of idle miners, who seek $100-a-month pensions at age 60, passed 340,000.

Furloughing of transportation was already under way. Crews of dozens of coal towboats in Ohio Valley rivers were laid off. As the last coal cars rolled away from mines, train crews awaited layoff notices.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad discontinued daily passenger service to a West Virginia mining area. The railroad said its entire Monongah Division in Northern West Virginia would be "paralyzed" if the coal stoppage continues very long.

Emaciated Woman Is Found In Nursing Home

SANTA MONICA, Calif., March 17 (AP)—An emaciated, underdeveloped young woman was found by police today huddled in a trunk at a dank waterfront apartment where two elderly women said they operated a nursing home.

Juvenile Officer Dolores Perkins identified the gaunt woman as Bessie Dinsmore, about 27, who said she had lived at the home for 22 years. Police Psychiatrist A. J. Grogan described her as "underdeveloped and with the mentality of an unschooled seven-year-old."

Marie Clavey, 60, and Josephine Vella, 58, were jailed and charged with unhuman treatment and false imprisonment of Miss Dinsmore and a 13-year-old boy, John Joseph Wayne. The boy told officers he escaped from the house last week. Police said the boy had been left with the two women when he was two weeks old. Miss Clavey and Miss Vella said they had been forced to restrain the boy because he "was not normal."

New Draft Law

ed the President's words by telling the Senate Armed Services Committee later in the day:

"Diplomatic action without the backing of military strength in the present world can only lead to appeasement."

The President spoke in the House of Representatives chamber, which was packed to overflowing. Spontaneous applause, carried to the nation and the world by radio, crackled out when he announced the signing of a mutual defense pact by five of these nations in Brussels.

Declares Time Important

Firmly, the President said:

"I am confident that the United States will, by appropriate means, extend to the free nations the support which the situation requires.

"I am sure that the determination of the free countries of Europe to protect themselves will be matched by an equal determination on our part to help them do so."

Besides UMT and selective service—the draft is needed only until UMT is put on a "solid foundation," he said—Mr. Truman appealed for still faster action on the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program.

"Time is now of critical importance," he warned.

Soviet pressure, Mr. Truman declared, is being brought on Finland "to the hazard of the entire Scandinavian Peninsula."

Greece, he said, is under "direct military attack" by rebel forces "supported by her Communist-dominated neighbors."

And in Italy, where crucial elections are coming April 18, "a determined and aggressive effort is being made by a Communist minority to take control," the President said.

Congress listened intently to Mr. Truman's 20-minute address and was obviously impressed by his warning that the situation is "critical."

But many senators and representatives showed unwillingness to go along with his proposal to bring back the draft—particularly in an election year — without thorough study. Some said they would need much more evidence than Mr. Truman offered that the draft is necessary.

Young Men Keep Recruiters Busy

[By The Associated Press]

America's young men of fighting age gave recruiting offices in some parts of the country a busy time yesterday after they heard President Truman call for draft and military training laws.

But mostly they just wanted information.

In Minneapolis the Army recruiting office said enlistments jumped to 30, about six times a normal day's work.

In Chicago Army, Navy and Marine recruiters reported plenty of telephone calls but little or no increase in enlistments.

Most of the Chicago youths who called wanted to know whether they would keep their former grades if they went back into the service.

In Portland, Me., a 27-year-old truck driver was delivering a load of uniforms from the cleaners to the Navy recruiting office when he heard the President's broadcast.

He walked over to a recruiting officer and told him: "Sign me up."

In Salem, Ore., Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, said the nation could begin an orderly drafting of men within 45 to 60 days after congressional passage of a selective service law. He said drafting could begin more quickly "if we had an emergency."

In Dallas, Texas, the recruiting office had six telephone calls from women seeking to enlist. Hours later not a man had called.

State Council Approves Merit System Expansion

BALTIMORE, March 17 (AP)—The Legislative Council approved today a proposal to bring employes of the State Comptroller's income tax and alcoholic beverages divisions into the merit system.

At the same time it turned down, with two members dissenting, an amendment that the employes take regular merit system tests before they are brought under it.

The amendment was offered by Sen. Kimble (R-Allegany). Voting with him in support of it was Sen. Della (D-Balto 6th.)

The council's morning session was devoted to a hearing at which State Bar Association leaders advocated abolition of the orphans courts.

Marshall then referred to the Western European compact, signed today. He said it was necessary to see some action on the part of the European nations "before we step into the picture—if we do."

Stassen Predicts GOP Victory In November

BALTIMORE, March 17 (AP) — Harold E. Stassen, Republican presidential candidate, had a handshaking session with Maryland Republican leaders today and predicted a Republican victory in 1948.

He declined to comment immediately on President Truman's message to Congress today, saying he would have to have time to study the proposals.

"I have always been in favor of a strong America," he declared. "I favor the European recovery program as modified by Sen. Vandenberg."

Britain, Trans-Jordan Sign Defense Treaty

LONDON, Thursday, March 18. (AP)—Britain traded money, military material and aircraft for the right to maintain air bases and training troops in Trans-Jordan under a new 20-year joint defense treaty, it was disclosed today.

Terms of the pact signed Monday at Amman provide that either country would "invite" the other to bring in forces in the event of war "or a menace of hostilities." A joint defense board is established to decide where British troops may be stationed in the country. RAF air bases are to be maintained at Amman and Mafrak.

Under military training, youths 18 to 20 would be drafted for maybe a six-month training period in camps or on ships, but legally they would not be in the armed forces or have to fight except in an emergency.

There is a bill now in Congress to set up a universal military training program. But once passed, it might take a year to get the program going in full swing. Approximately 900,000 a year would be trained.

These youths could not be used for fighting either inside or outside of the United States except in case of a national emergency and then only by a special act of Congress. But they would be trained men.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Keep 'Em Down On the Farm

The other day Pete Swanson's nephew, Bud, allowed as how he was fed up with farm and country life ... and was going to the city where there was a lot more opportunity and excitement.

Some folks might have tried to stop him. But not Pete. He even advanced Bud carfare for the trip ... figured that when he'd had a good look around, he'd come back where he belonged.

And what happened? After seven days of big-town bustle and excitement, Bud was back behind the wheel of a tractor, with color in his cheeks again. And he'd traded the night life of the city for a quiet glass of beer with Dad.

From where I sit, that's how it goes. Try to prevent some one from getting what he thinks he wants—and he'll go on wanting it. But give him his head, and he'll settle for the sensible thing—whether it's country life, or a temperate glass of beer!

Big Powers Near Accord On Report On Holy Land War

Conclusions Will Be Given Council Friday

LAKE SUCCESS, March 17 (AP)—The big powers were reported in virtual agreement tonight on a compromise report covering the fighting in Palestine.

A United Nations press officer said delegates of the United States, Russia, France and China have drafted a set of joint conclusions to present to the Security Council Friday morning. He said the near agreement was reached at a two-hour session tonight and that only a minor point remained unresolved.

It was understood that the compromise conclusions were pushed through after efforts for Jewish-Arab conciliation or a truce failed.

The press officer, who attended the closed meeting, said the conclusions included these basic points:

1—The Security Council would make it clear that it is determined not to permit the existence of a threat to peace in Palestine.

2—The Security Council would take every step within its power to end violence and disorder in the Holy Land.

The report was described as preliminary to later big power efforts on what to do about the situation.

Britain boycotted tonight's big power meeting as usual but it was believed that any suggestions carrying the support of the other four major countries would be adopted by the 11-nation council.

pension for miners 60 years or more of age who have dug for 20 years. The stoppage followed, idling more than three-fourths of the 400,000 miners.

Steel Cutbacks Begin

PITTSBURGH, March 17—(AP)—The steel industry's first cutback as a result of the three-day-old soft coal walkout came today.

The Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company announced the banking of a blast furnace at its Briar Hill plant at Youngstown, O., to conserve fuel.

Other steel companies would soon be forced to follow suit. The Sharon Steel Corporation said it will bank one blast furnace and five open hearths at its Farrell, Pa., plant. The Bethlehem Steel Company announced it will cut back in a few days if the walkout continues.

With all their coal mines completely closed in the Pittsburgh area since yesterday, other steelmakers watched the situation closely.

Only a few scattered soft coal mines were still working. The list of idle miners, who seek $100-a-month pensions at age 60, passed 340,000.

Furloughing of transportation was already under way. Crews of dozens of coal towboats in Ohio Valley rivers were laid off. As the last coal cars rolled away from mines, train crews awaited layoff notices.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad discontinued daily passenger service to a West Virginia mining area. The railroad said its entire Monongah Division in Northern West Virginia would be "paralyzed" if the coal stoppage continues very long.

Emaciated Woman Is Found In Nursing Home

SANTA MONICA, Calif., March 17 (AP)—An emaciated, underdeveloped young woman was found by police today huddled in a trunk at a dank waterfront apartment where two elderly women said they operated a nursing home.

Juvenile Officer Dolores Perkins identified the gaunt woman as Bessie Dinsmore, about 27, who said she had lived at the home for 22 years. Police Psychiatrist A. J. Grogan described her as "underdeveloped and with the mentality of an unschooled seven-year-old."

Marie Clavey, 60, and Josephine Vella, 58, were jailed and charged with unhuman treatment and false imprisonment of Miss Dinsmore and a 13-year-old boy, John Joseph Wayne. The boy told officers he escaped from the house last week. Police said the boy had been left with the two women when he was two weeks old. Miss Clavey and Miss Vella said they had been forced to restrain the boy because he "was not normal."

New Draft Law

ed the President's words by telling the Senate Armed Services Committee later in the day:

"Diplomatic action without the backing of military strength in the present world can only lead to appeasement."

The President spoke in the House of Representatives chamber, which was packed to overflowing. Spontaneous applause, carried to the nation and the world by radio, crackled out when he announced the signing of a mutual defense pact by five of these nations in Brussels.

Declares Time Important

Firmly, the President said:

"I am confident that the United States will, by appropriate means, extend to the free nations the support which the situation requires.

"I am sure that the determination of the free countries of Europe to protect themselves will be matched by an equal determination on our part to help them do so."

Besides UMT and selective service—the draft is needed only until UMT is put on a "solid foundation," he said—Mr. Truman appealed for still faster action on the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program.

"Time is now of critical importance," he warned.

Soviet pressure, Mr. Truman declared, is being brought on Finland "to the hazard of the entire Scandinavian Peninsula."

Greece, he said, is under "direct military attack" by rebel forces "supported by her Communist-dominated neighbors."

And in Italy, where crucial elections are coming April 18, "a determined and aggressive effort is being made by a Communist minority to take control," the President said.

Congress listened intently to Mr. Truman's 20-minute address and was obviously impressed by his warning that the situation is "critical."

But many senators and representatives showed unwillingness to go along with his proposal to bring back the draft—particularly in an election year — without thorough study. Some said they would need much more evidence than Mr. Truman offered that the draft is necessary.

Young Men Keep Recruiters Busy

[By The Associated Press]

America's young men of fighting age gave recruiting offices in some parts of the country a busy time yesterday after they heard President Truman call for draft and military training laws.

But mostly they just wanted information.

In Minneapolis the Army recruiting office said enlistments jumped to 30, about six times a normal day's work.

In Chicago Army, Navy and Marine recruiters reported plenty of telephone calls but little or no increase in enlistments.

Most of the Chicago youths who called wanted to know whether they would keep their former grades if they went back into the service.

In Portland, Me., a 27-year-old truck driver was delivering a load of uniforms from the cleaners to the Navy recruiting office when he heard the President's broadcast.

He walked over to a recruiting officer and told him: "Sign me up."

In Salem, Ore., Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, said the nation could begin an orderly drafting of men within 45 to 60 days after congressional passage of a selective service law. He said drafting could begin more quickly "if we had an emergency."

In Dallas, Texas, the recruiting office had six telephone calls from women seeking to enlist. Hours later not a man had called.

State Council Approves Merit System Expansion

BALTIMORE, March 17 (AP)—The Legislative Council approved today a proposal to bring employes of the State Comptroller's income tax and alcoholic beverages divisions into the merit system.

At the same time it turned down, with two members dissenting, an amendment that the employes take regular merit system tests before they are brought under it.

The amendment was offered by Sen. Kimble (R-Allegany). Voting with him in support of it was Sen. Della (D-Balto 6th.)

The council's morning session was devoted to a hearing at which State Bar Association leaders advocated abolition of the orphans courts.

troops on February 8, and at last report only 15,000 and the strength was "still dwindling."

Marshall then referred to the Western European compact, signed today. He said it was necessary to see some action on the part of the European nations "before we step into the picture—if we do."

Stassen Predicts GOP Victory In November

BALTIMORE, March 17 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, Republican presidential candidate, had a handshaking session with Maryland Republican leaders today and predicted a Republican victory in 1948.

He declined to comment immediately on President Truman's message to Congress today, saying he would have to have time to study the proposals.

"I have always been in favor of a strong America," he declared. "I favor the European recovery program as modified by Sen. Vandenberg."

Britain, Trans-Jordan Sign Defense Treaty

LONDON, Thursday, March 18. (AP)—Britain traded money, military material and aircraft for the right to maintain air bases and training troops in Trans-Jordan under a new 20-year joint defense treaty, it was disclosed today.

Terms of the pact signed Monday at Amman provide that either country would "invite" the other to bring in forces in the event of war "or a menace of hostilities." A joint defense board is established to decide where British troops may be stationed in the country. RAF air bases are to be maintained at Amman and Mafrak.

taken directly into the armed services.

Under military training, youths 18 to 20 would be drafted for maybe a six-month training period in camps or on ships, but legally they would not be in the armed forces or have to fight except in an emergency.

There is a bill now in Congress to set up a universal military training program. But once passed, it might take a year to get the program going in full swing. Approximately 900,000 a year would be trained.

These youths could not be used for fighting either inside or outside of the United States except in case of a national emergency and then only by a special act of Congress. But they would be trained men.

Vorys said the provision for Export-Import Bank loans retains proposals by the Senate that they be subject to approval by the Recovery Administrator and the National Advisory Council. The Export-Import Bank then could decide the probability of repayment before final approval.

The committee also agreed that an administrator be named to direct the recovery program. It added a provision that he may, with presidential approval, set up a corporation to aid in his work.

Mayor Thomas S. Post Scores Political Upset

Showing a vote-getting ability during the biennial municipal election campaign that surprised his closest and most ardent supporters, Mayor Post eked out a victory over his opponent, Roy W. Eves, by the slim margin of 146 votes. But that fact need not detract from his victory inasmuch as there were those who had predicted he would be defeated by as much as 2,000 votes. To have turned that forecast of defeat into victory was an outstanding accomplishment.

So, while licking our wounds, we take time out to join with his jubilant followers to extend our congratulations and best wishes for his administration —one for which he "earnestly asks the help of everyone in a common effort to build a bigger and better Cumberland."

His thoughts in this direction are to be commended, and they should call for sincere cooperation on the part of every member of the newly elected city council, in bringing to reality the vast program of proposed improvements so badly needed. At the same time, the programs put into effect during the past two years must not be neglected.

The new council is expected to provide Cumberland with a more coherent and effective governance for the advancement of the city through a reasonable degree of wisdom and unity within it. The citizens of Cumberland, who have grown weary of petty bickering, insist on it. They have, through their votes, bespoken their desire for Mr. Post, and it is to be hoped that all will see the need of giving the united co-operation the business of a city requires.

The tasks to confront the City Council during the next two years will be of such importance as to call for teamwork rather than the battling out of deep divisions of policy. They will be tasks to bring to reality those things so long overdue. And, the mayor and city commissioners will be measured by the unity and efficiency of action they display in bringing about concrete, sound accomplishments during the next two years.

While the defeat of Mr. Eves is naturally of extreme disappointment to all who worked so hard and persistently for his election, much satisfaction can be had from the splendid race he ran in his first venture into politics. We were of the belief that Mr. Eves would make a splendid mayor and the fact that he was nosed out does not change that opinion. There is no need, of course, of crying over spilled milk, but a searching examination of the various things that entered into the result will probably do good, and those who saw their candidate go down to defeat will set about to see where they can profit in the future from those activities which might have contributed to Mr. Eves' defeat. No one need be ashamed of his efforts. He made a gallant fight.

Mayor Post will have with him three councilmen with experience in city affairs. Two will be carry-overs from the present Council—William V. Keegan and William J. Edwards. One new face—William H. Buckholtz—will be found at the Council table when the new administration is sworn in, while one—Edgar Reynolds—who had the privilege of serving Cumberland for five successive terms as city commissioner before his defeat four years ago will rejoin those who will govern the city. To them, too, we extend hearty congratulations and good wishes.

The Walking Man received several votes for mayor in a Kansas City primary, probably in honor of the Pendergast politicians who go from one precinct to another, scattering votes for favorite candidates.

Leave Us Alone Week

Those business men in Douglas, Ga., who have endorsed a "Leave Us Alone Week" for April 1, 8 may have started something big. It could easily have a mushroom growth and turn into a landslide sweeping everything in its wake.

There aren't many Americans who haven't felt, at moments, just as these Georgians do about all the "weeks" that promoters of causes have been perpetrating on the public. They say they are being "driven to bankruptcy by all the drives going on." They see "more money-raisers than customers" every day. They think "too many people are trying to take" them before Uncle Sam gets his every quarter.

Statistics on how many weeks have been set aside for this or that are not available, but the number must run above 52 when two and even three run concurrently, as they do sometimes. Many of the setter-asiders have good causes to forward, beyond any doubt, but the idea has been run into the ground by repetition and competition and the objects of all these efforts have been run ragged. The Douglasites have a legitimate complaint.

So a lot of others in the same boat would like to cooperate in a national "Leave Us Alone Week." It would be a welcome relief to have at least one week when no solicitors would call for a contribution and no organization would remind editors, for the sake of publicity, that this is national something-or-other week.

Uncle Sam must have been asleep at the switch or he would have joined the race for the South Pole regions. This country will need them for parking space.

The Silly Season

Just when most observers were sitting back rather complacently, another silly season in the nation's colleges and universities makes its bow.

Comes a case in California where fraternity initiates are accused of killing and eating a dog.

The scene shifts to Louisiana, where a strip-tease artist appeared before a group of students at the state university. It all ended on a note of hey-hey playfulness when the strip-teaser was tossed in a lake, providing a more colorful incident than in the old days when the lads confined themselves to eating goldfish.

As usual such antics are the exception rather than the rule. These gay chaps are only displaying a desire for publicity instead of a yearning for higher learning. Underneath this froth there remain the usual intelligent and average student who is trying to plan his life, and who looks upon such goings-on as strictly sophomoric.

A tunnel in Colorado is called the longest bore in America, but may have the title wrested from it before the presidential campaign is ended.

Complications In Diabetes

More than fifty years ago Lord Moynihan said: "No one should be allowed to die of one disease because he has another." This statement is particularly appropriate in diabetes because the lives of these patients are always in danger should other maladies develop, regardless of how trivial they may be. Obviously this was truer in Moynihan's day than ours but the problem still exists.

All diabetics have reason to thank Banting and Best because the discovery of insuline assurred them of a longer and more normal existence as well as providing them with a weapon to fight complications. Without this drug, surgery is unsafe. In the pre-insulin days whenever appendicitis, thyroid overactivity, or any other condition demanding operation appeared, the chances of recovery were almost nil. Today, in every hospital in the land, the victim of "sugar sickness" is coming out of the ordeal in good fashion. Special attention and skill are required but the outcome is hopeful.

Diabetes has been studied so thoroughly that it is known what additional disorders are likely to arise and which are the most serious. Many are preventable; those that are not should be kept in mind constantly so that they can be detected on their first appearance.

Acidosis, which leads to coma, is the most common and most sufferers have learned to recognize the warning symtoms. Liver changes are not unusual and when this organ is infected, a serious situation exists. Moreover, Pratt states that one-half of those dying of diabetes show gall bladder involvement. This means that early management of gall bladder disease is essential in order to spare damage to the liver. The pancreas lies close by and is likewise influenced by disturbances in the biliary tract. Toxic goiter is difficult to control in diabetics; consequently the thyroid bears watching and should be treated as soon as possible. Tuberculosis and diabetes frequently co-exist.

Diabetics are prone to encounter circulatory disturbances, especially of the type resulting from hardening of the arteries. Injury or infection may result in gangrene; hence everything should be done to discourage their occurrence. The lower extremities fare the worst and the feet, therefore, require meticulous care, with special attention to corns, calluses, pressure points, ringworm, and the nails. Conservatism and good judgement should always prevail; overtreatment by one who is inexperienced may prove fatal.

Boils and carbuncles seem to favor the diabetic and years ago they carried a mortality of from 20 to 60 per cent. Nowadays the sulfonamides and penicillin have turned the tables and the outlook is much better. Nevertheless such lesions must be handled with respect lest they get out of hand. The advice of Joslin should be upheld to the letter: "Do not squeeze, do not pinch, do not cut, and do not run sugar." In other words, boils should be treated by no one but a physician.

Tense muscles surrounding the structure and irritation through nervousness or inflammation are the most frequent causes.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

California is faced with a crisis. There's been a drastic water power shortage this year and it looks as though we're turning into a Kansas with palm trees. The dry season is being blamed on the Chamber of Commerce. It seems it gave the weather 24 hours to get out of town . . . and it hasn't returned since.

It's so bad they're filling the bird baths in the park with beer and the sparrows are now seeing pink worms.

This water shortage is very serious. Just think of what could happen to us . . . no rain means no power . . . no power means no lights . . . no lights and John L. Lewis forces us all into his union.

Even the bathtub faucets are being changed from "hot and cold" to "use sand paper."

But Florida is coming to our aid, sending us its rainwater in blotters. Floridians feel sorry for us—don't blame them. It hasn't rained here since we dropped dry ice on Honest John's skywriting.

Everyone in Hollywood is quite concerned . . . especially Esther Williams. It seems she hates to swim in seltzer . . . and Betty Hutton has volunteered to replace the dynamo at Hoover Dam.

Here's one consolation, though. If you find your drinks watered you know the stuff must have been imported.

DOES ANYONE HAVE A SUGGESTION?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, March 17.—One of the great things about the American people is that they believe in working at democracy. And when the gentlemen in Washington fail to exert leadership, as they're inclined to do these days, more and more plain ordinary patriotic people pick up the democracy ball and run with it.

For instance, the State Department long ago was supposed to be telling the Italian people that we are their friends and that when they go to the polls to vote April 18, they shouldn't be afraid to vote against Russian terrorism. However, partly because of decreased funds, the State Department has been dragging its feet.

Therefore, a group of Americans suggested to Bob Sherwood, foremost American playwright, that he write a short message "to the people of Italy from the people of America." Sherwood has written such a message, printed below, and now money is being raised by others to drop several million copies, printed in the Italian language, over Milan, Venice, Naples and Rome.

Other Americans who have friends or relatives in Italy can clip the message and mail it directly to Italy.

In other words, more and more people in this country have come to realize that winning the peace is almost more difficult than winning the war.

During war, the Government spend millions dropping information behind enemy lines. It's called "psychological warfare." In peace, psychological warfare is even more important, even though the Congress and the Government don't always think so.

Here is the "manifesto for peace" prepared by Americans who are ahead of their government in trying to make democracy live:

"To The People Of Italy From The People Of America:

"We, the American people, are proud to reaffirm the strong bonds that have always existed and always must exist between the people of Italy and ourselves.

"These bonds survived through more than twenty years of Fascist dictatorship and through the devastating war that Fascism imposed upon the civilized world. These bonds are again threatened by another form of totalitarian dictatorship.

"The new world, in which we Americans live, and in which the cause of freedom has flourished, was discovered by a great Italian, Christopher Columbus. Both continents of this new world have been largely settled and developed by men and women of Italian birth.

"We look to Rome as the cradle of our civilization, and, for many of us, the eternal citadel of our religious faith.

"We have fought for freedom on our own shores. We have fought for freedom in Europe, in Africa, in Asia. Today, the whole world has seen too much of the savagery and destruction of war and wants to see no more of it. We believe that war can be avoided if the free peoples of the world will keep strong their democratic institutions by resisting all the sinister forces of intimidation which seek to destroy them from within.

"We Americans want the Italian people to know that we are with them wholeheartedly in their struggle to maintain their freedom and their dignity in a world that is again darkened with the threat of oppression and slavery."

The Housing War

Senator Charles Tobey of New Hampshire clomped angrily out of a joint Congressional housing meeting the other day, leading a wholesale walkout, after his fellow Republican, Senator Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin, got wound up in a filibuster against public housing. It was an incident which every man looking for a home should know about.

Tobey had the majority for a bill which would provide 15,000,000 homes in ten years. McCarthy, faced with defeat, tried to stall.

Forthright Senator John Sparkman of Alabama had suggested that the Committee take up the recommendations of Senator Ralph Flanders, Vermont Republican. These were almost identical to McCarthy's own recommendations, except for two glaring exceptions: Flanders proposed building 500,000 units under a four-year public housing program; also farm housing on a large scale.

McCarthy protested that these issues were too controversial and should be presented in separate bills: Seeing the scales tipped against him, he urged the vote be delayed until Congressman Frank Sundstrom of New Jersey, Congressman Wright Patman of Texas and Senator Harry Cain of Washington were present.

This touched off the fireworks.

"It looks," snorted San Diego's Congressman Charles Fletcher, who was elected by the California real-estate lobby, "like some unfair shilly-shallying."

"If there is any shilly-shallying," snapped Sparkman, "we learned it from you at the first meeting. Only this time we have more men to shilly-shally."

McCarthy then threatened to discuss "suggested changes in the staff report"—92 of them altogether—which brought an immediate charge from Senator Tobey of filibustering.

"This is just an obvious attempt," he fumed, "to put off voting today!"

"I want to know," demanded Alabamac's Congressman Albert Rains, "if you are a one-man filibuster."

"I intend to talk until Patman and Sundstrom show up," shot back McCarthy.

"It won't do you any good to wait for Patman," snapped Rains. "He's on our side."

"We are all adults," soothed McCarthy. "Let's be sensible about this."

Tobey Erupts

But he stuck stubbornly to his position, refusing to yield until Tobey would agree to postpone the vote.

As McCarthy talked on, Sparkman passed a copy of Flanders' public housing recommendations around the table until a majority had signed it. With this done Tobey jumped to his feet, shouting:

"I am not going to stay here and take any part in this if there is going to be a filibuster!"

He marched out. Since a majority had signed the Flanders report in favor of Government-financed low-cost housing, the rest drifted after him. McCarthy was left talking—to himself.

Note—The committee met next morning, tempers cooler, and formally adopted Flanders' recommendations. McCarthy accepted the farm housing proposal after it was agreed to give congested cities first priority. But he and Fletcher held out against public housing to the last, even after everyone else had joined with Tobey.

Meanwhile, Senator Bob Taft, though he has done nothing to push his own Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill, now refuses to scrap it to make way for the joint housing committee's recommendations. Result: The Flanders proposals will have to be added as amendments, although they will almost completely replace Taft's bill.

Importance Of MacArthur's Candidacy Rests On Wisconsin

By MARK SULLIVAN

To an extraordinary degree the Republican Presidential situation is focused in the extremely vigorous contest now under way in Wisconsin, looking to the primary April 6. The exceptional importance of this contest, and the acute interest in it, would be sufficiently explained by the political vitality of the State and acceptance of it as a microcosm. In 1944, the Republican primary in Wisconsin was sensationally decisive in the fate of an outstanding national figure. Wendell Willkie, seeking the Presidential nomination, campaigned vigorously in the State, and upon news of his serious defeat formally retired from the race.

This normal importance of Wisconsin is now increased by the fact that General MacArthur is a contender. If he should carry the primary, and especially if he should do this conspicuously, he would be an indubitably formidable figure, national party leaders and the public would be obliged to take serious account of him. Correspondingly, any conspicuous failure of MacArthur in Wisconsin—which is his native state and in which several conditions are especially favorable to him—would be a serious setback.

Curious Importance Given

A curious and conspicuous additional importance is given the Wisconsin primary by the effect that MacArthur's presence in it will have on the fortunes of two other contenders, Governor Dewey and ex-Governor Stassen. But for the entry of MacArthur, these two could have fought out the Wisconsin contest to a clearcut showing of their relative strength, as was the case in the only other primary so far held, the New Hampshire one, where Dewey won six delegates, Stassen two.

Stassen, to establish himself clearly on the top level among leaders in the race, needs greatly to carry a state, one or more, other than his home Minnesota. For this, Wisconsin presented a favorable opportunity, it adjoins Minnesota and is much like it in population and political tendencies.

The interest of Dewey in the Wisconsin race was, and is, that by carrying it he would buttress his present elevation in the national race; indeed, victory in Wisconsin especially if conspicuous, might give him a momentum toward a clear headship over all the other contenders. Correspondingly, loss of Wisconsin, especially if conspicuous, would be more than an ordinary setback to his present momentum.

While the outcome in Wisconsin is still important to Dewey and to Stassen, and while each must strive to make the best possible showing, any simple and clearcut demonstration of their respective strengths is made impossible by the presence of MacArthur in the race, and the importance his candidacy has. For the votes MacArthur gets include many that otherwise would have gone Dewey, and yet others that would have gone to Stassen.

Favorable Conditions Formidable

The conditions favorable to MacArthur are as a sum formidable. Although he has had few direct contacts with the State during his career in the Army, the sentiment that goes to a native son remains strong and is intensified by the glamour and eminence of his career. Four years ago, without encouragement from MacArthur, some delegates favorable to him were elected. Leaders now supporting him come from both sides of a cleavage long deep in Wisconsin. One of the most aggressive MacArthur supporters is Philip LaFollette, formerly a leader in the Progressive Party and Governor of the state as that party's representative. Another especially vigorous MacArthur supporter, a candidate for delegate on the MacArthur ticket, is a former Republican governor, Fred Zimmerman, very popular in the state (though some leaders in the Republican state organization are supporting Stassen and others Dewey).

Until the Wisconsin primary April 6 the Republican presidential situation will remain in suspense, and a certain amount of revaluation will follow. Thereafter, much importance will attach to the preferential primary in Nebraska April 13. This is an over-all free-for-all popularity contest. By initiation of persons within the state, with a wish to bring about a comprehensive test of Republican voters' wishes, all the candidates or serious possibilities, whether announced or not, including Senator Vandenberg, were put on the primary ticket.

Control Over Corruption At Election Polls Is At Stake

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 17. — If Judge Moore's decision that Congress does not have power under the Constitution to regulate expenditures in national elections is upheld by the Supreme Court, the way is opened to the greatest orgy of slush-fund spending to influence elections that this nation has ever witnessed.

Anybody—whether a rich corporation or a multimillionaire or a labor union with millions of dues collected—will be able to spend money for propaganda or anything else involving expressions of opinions about candidates, and presumably Congress will be unable, by legislation, to stop such undue pressure.

For several decades the courts have recognized that free elections can be held only if limits are placed upon the amount of money that can be spent in elections. There are dozens of provisions of law relating to such restrictions.

But year after year evasions occurred. For a long time Congress prohibited political contributions by corporations. Then, during wartime, under the Smith-Connally Act, it prohibited such contributions by labor unions. Finally, after an exhaustive investigation, a Senate committee, composed of Republicans and Democrats, reported unanimously that to prohibit "contributions" to political committees was not enough and that it was the spending of money which had to be restricted if elections were to be free.

Frees All To Spend Lavishly

Congress, while considering the Taft-Hartley law, picked up the recommendations of the Senate committee and wrote a provision amplifying the existing statutes on corrupt practices. But when Judge Moore holds that this provision is invalid for labor unions, it means that the corporations and everybody else are likewise free to spend without limit, all under the excuse that the Constitution guarantees freedom of speech and of the press.

It is interesting to note that the Supreme Court had no such compunction about the freedom-of-speech clause when it upheld a lower court ruling forbidding an employer to speak to his employes during working hours prior to a collective-bargaining election. The theory of the court has been that the first amendment does not protect againsnt the right of Congress to regulate labor relations.

Judge Moore's decision is full of inconsistencies and fallacies. Thus, he says that Congress has only the right to prohibit specific acts of corruption in elections and that to spend money to express views on elections is not subject to regulation as to amount or anything else.

This is indeed novel, for it also would strike down the right of Congress to prohibit political contributions or to regulate their amount. This is because there is very little difference between a contribution made to a political party organization of committee by a corporation or labor union and a contribution made to a group or organization disconnected from party organizations but set up to conduct propaganda campaigns.

Actually Judge Moore must have overlooked the fact that to forbid labor unions or corporations from spending the funds of their members or stockholders, respectively, for political campaigning does not, as he says, deprive them of their opportunities to participate in campaigns or express their views. They can do so as individuals now, and always could. But union dues come from "closed shop" members, who would lose their jobs if they failed to pay dues, and from "union shop" members, who would be subjected to penalties if they did not allow their dues to be used for political purposes. To misuse these dues is to deprive individuals of their right to withhold expenditures for political campaigns when they themselves might have different political views than the unions.

Congress' Constitutional Power

If Congress cannot regulate the use of trust funds collected by corporations and labor unions for one purpose and used for another, then Congress has lost much of the constitutional power which the courts have hitherto bestowed on the national legislative body.

Judge Moore is a New Deal judge. He was appointed by the late President Roosevelt in 1941. For many years he was a member of a law firm which has been and is counsel for the United Mine Workers in West Virginia. Judge Moore's decision reads like the briefs filed by the CIO. If that kind of law is upheld by the Supreme Court, then federal controls over corruption at the polls may be said to be at an end, and the clock will be turned back to the wickedness which was witnessed in the early part of this century and which gave rise to the present provisions of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

These Days

More On The Condon Case

REPRESENTATIVE Holifield of California on March 9 inserted in the Congressional Record a prolonged address in defense of Dr. Edward U. Condon which makes very interesting reading. However, I note that he said that the American Soviet Science Society "is not affiliated with the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship," which has been declared a subversive organization by Attorney General Clark.

That was not true on March 8 when I made an examination of the fact. I found that both organizations used the same office and the same telephone as of that day. I found that the American-Soviet Science Society is listed at 114 East 32 Street, telephone Murray Hill 3-2080; the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship is listed at 114 East 32 Street, telephone Murray Hill 3-2080. I found that the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc. occupies Rooms 803-5 in that building, while the American-Soviet Science Society occupies Room 804. Also in Room 804 is the American-Soviet Music Society. In Room 803 is the Reporter on American-Soviet Relations. This is a suite of rooms used by affiliated organizations.

Perhaps Representative Holifield can explain this coincidence. Perhaps he knows why two offices that have nothing to do with each other, "are not affiliated," live in the same room, have the same telephone, undoubtedly use the same office help. He admits:

"It is true that the society grew out of a committee connected with the national council at that (sic) time of the war when Russia was our ally . . ."

He then lists a number of distinguished and undistinguished persons who joined this organization during the war. If we were to hold everybody responsible for his attitude toward Soviet Russia during the war, most who today most violently attack Russia would be condemned for their former stupidity.

However, the war is over and even those who felt that they had to go along with a so-called ally are discovering that Soviet Russia was never an ally; that Soviet Russia used this country to her advantage and to our detriment. But March 9 is a late date to keep on repeating the same errors.

Therefore, when Representative Holifield said on March 9 what was untrue, by investigation, on March 8, one is startled. For he repeats ". . . The American-Soviet Science Society long ago severed connection with the national council . . ." On March 8, this was not true. Both organizations were connected by operating on the same premises and by using the same telephone. I wonder if Representative Holifield investigated this "separation" or was just told about it by someone.

I had not known that Dr. Condon had suggested that the employees of the National Bureau of Standards join this organization which on March 8, 1948, was in the same offices and used the same telephone as the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, the latter having been declared to be a subversive organization. He apparently did that and Representative Holifield defends that action. In fact he says:

"In passing, I would like to point out that these attacks on this society, aside from their utter absurdity and untruth, have resulted in hindering an activity of vital interest to the security and defense of this country, for the society was doing work for the armed forces."

That requires some explanation. Precisely how would something called American-Soviet Science Society "be of vital interest to the security and defense of this country?" That sentence implies that the interchange of scientific information between the United States and Soviet Russia can benefit the United States. I wonder if Representative Holifield of California would list without unnecessary comment, so that we can stack one against the other, how much exchanging the United States has done and how much Soviet Russia has done.

Precisely what data did Russia send to this country for our advantage? How many, by name, please, American scientists were permitted to work in Russian research laboratories and to bring out for our use whatever data they obtained in such laboratories?

Representative Holifield makes a categorical statement: let him produce some evidence, factual, irrefutable evidence that can be investigated and checked. It would be valuable to the American people to know the facts.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The line-up is MacArthur, Truman, Eisenhower, Stassen, Dewey, Bricker and Taft. If the office space seeks the man there isn't desk room for everybody.

I'll say one thing about these political Ides of March. They constitute the most exciting lull we ever saw.

It will be impossible to keep up this pace until the Philadelphia conventions. But even the guys who fall by the wayside are not out of business. They can open up hot dog stands.

Between you and me and the compromise candidate we know the best man will win or demand a recount. They always do.

Mayor Thomas S. Post Scores Political Upset

Showing a vote-getting ability during the biennial municipal election campaign that surprised his closest and most ardent supporters, Mayor Post eked out a victory over his opponent, Roy W. Eves, by the slim margin of 146 votes. But that fact need not detract from his victory inasmuch as there were those who had predicted he would be defeated by as much as 2,000 votes. To have turned that forecast of defeat into victory was an outstanding accomplishment.

So, while licking our wounds, we take time out to join with his jubilant followers to extend our congratulations and best wishes for his administration —one for which he "earnestly asks the help of everyone in a common effort to build a bigger and better Cumberland."

His thoughts in this direction are to be commended, and they should call for sincere cooperation on the part of every member of the newly elected city council, in bringing to reality the vast program of proposed improvements so badly needed. At the same time, the programs put into effect during the past two years must not be neglected.

The new council is expected to provide Cumberland with a more coherent and effective governance for the advancement of the city through a reasonable degree of wisdom and unity within it. The citizens of Cumberland, who have grown weary of petty bickering, insist on it. They have, through their votes, bespoken their desire for Mr. Post, and it is to be hoped that all will see the need of giving the united co-operation the business of a city requires.

The tasks to confront the City Council during the next two years will be of such importance as to call for teamwork rather than the battling out of deep divisions of policy. They will be tasks to bring to reality those things so long overdue. And, the mayor and city commissioners will be measured by the unity and efficiency of action they display in bringing about concrete, sound accomplishments during the next two years.

While the defeat of Mr. Eves is naturally of extreme disappointment to all who worked so hard and persistently for his election, much satisfaction can be had from the splendid race he ran in his first venture into politics. We were of the belief that Mr. Eves would make a splendid mayor and the fact that he was nosed out does not change that opinion. There is no need, of course, of crying over spilled milk, but a searching examination of the various things that entered into the result will probably do good, and those who saw their candidate go down to defeat will set about to see where they can profit in the future from those activities which might have contributed to Mr. Eves' defeat. No one need be ashamed of his efforts. He made a gallant fight.

Mayor Post will have with him three councilmen with experience in city affairs. Two will be carryovers from the present Council—William V. Keegan and William J. Edwards. One new face—William H. Buckholtz—will be found at the Council table when the new administration is sworn in, while one—Edgar Reynolds—who had the privilege of serving Cumberland for five successive terms as city commissioner before his defeat four years ago will rejoin those who will govern the city. To them, too, we extend hearty congratulations and good wishes.

The Walking Man received several votes for mayor in a Kansas City primary, probably in honor of the Pendergast politicians who go from one precinct to another, scattering votes for favorite candidates.

Leave Us Alone Week

Those business men in Douglas, Ga., who have endorsed a "Leave Us Alone Week" for April 1, 8 may have started something big. It could easily have a mushroom growth and turn into a landslide sweeping everything in its wake.

There aren't many Americans who haven't felt, at moments, just as these Georgians do about all the "weeks" that promoters of causes have been perpetrating on the public. They say they are being "driven to bankruptcy by all the drives going on." They see "more money-raisers than customers" every day. They think "too many people are trying to take" them before Uncle Sam gets his every quarter.

Statistics on how many weeks have been set aside for this or that are not available, but the number must run above 52 when two and even three run concurrently, as they do sometimes. Many of the setter-asiders have good causes to forward, beyond any doubt, but the idea has been run into the ground by repetition and competition and the objects of all these efforts have been run ragged. The Douglasites have a legitimate complaint.

So a lot of others in the same boat would like to cooperate in a national "Leave Us Alone Week." It would be a welcome relief to have at least one week when no solicitors would call for a contribution and no organization would remind editors, for the sake of publicity, that this is national something-or-other week.

Uncle Sam must have been asleep at the switch or he would have joined the race for the South Pole regions. This country will need them for parking space.

The Silly Season

Just when most observers were sitting back rather complacently, another silly season in the nation's colleges and universities makes its bow.

Comes a case in California where fraternity initiates are accused of killing and eating a dog.

The scene shifts to Louisiana, where a strip-tease artist appeared before a group of students at the state university. It all ended on a note of hey-hey playfulness when the strip-teaser was tossed in a lake, providing a more colorful incident than in the old days when the lads confined themselves to eating goldfish.

As usual such antics are the exception rather than the rule. These gay chaps are only displaying a desire for publicity instead of a yearning for higher learning. Underneath this froth there remain the usual intelligent and average student who is trying to plan his life, and who looks upon such goings-on as strictly sophomoric.

The dry season is being blamed on the Chamber of Commerce. It seems it gave the weather 24 hours to get out of town . . . and it hasn't returned since.

It's so bad they're filling the bird baths in the park with beer and the sparrows are now seeing pink worms.

This water shortage is very serious. Just think of what could happen to us . . . no rain means no power . . . no power means no lights . . . no lights and John L. Lewis forces us all into his union.

Even the bathtub faucets are being changed from "hot and cold" to "use sand paper."

But Florida is coming to our aid, sending us its rainwater in blotters. Floridians feel sorry for us—don't blame them. It hasn't rained here since we dropped dry ice on Honest John's skywriting.

Everyone in Hollywood is quite concerned . . . especially Esther Williams. It seems she hates to swim in seltzer . . . and Betty Hutton has volunteered to replace the dynamo at Hoover Dam.

Here's one consolation, though. If you find your drinks watered you know the stuff must have been imported.

DOES ANYONE HAVE A SUGGESTION?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, March 17.—One of the great things about the American people is that they believe in working at democracy. And when the gentlemen in Washington fail to exert leadership, as they're inclined to do these days, more and more plain ordinary patriotic people pick up the democracy ball and run with it.

For instance, the State Department long ago was supposed to be telling the Italian people that we are their friends and that when they go to the polls to vote April 18, they shouldn't be afraid to vote against Russian terrorism. However, partly because of decreased funds, the State Department has been dragging its feet.

Therefore, a group of Americans suggested to Bob Sherwood, foremost American playwright, that he write a short message "to the people of Italy from the people of America." Sherwood has written such a message, printed below, and now money is being raised by others to drop several million copies, printed in the Italian language, over Milan, Venice, Naples and Rome.

Other Americans who have friends or relatives in Italy can clip the message and mail it directly to Italy.

In other words, more and more people in this country have come to realize that winning the peace is almost more difficult than winning the war.

During war, the Government spend millions dropping information behind enemy lines. It's called "psychological warfare." In peace, psychological warfare is even more important, even though the Congress and the Government don't always think so.

Here is the "manifesto for peace" prepared by Americans who are ahead of their government in trying to make democracy live:

"To The People Of Italy From The People Of America:

"We, the American people, are proud to reaffirm the strong bonds that have always existed and always must exist between the people of Italy and ourselves.

"These bonds survived through more than twenty years of Fascist dictatorship and through the devastating war that Fascism imposed upon the civilized world. These bonds are again threatened by another form of totalitarian dictatorship.

"The new world, in which we Americans live, and in which the cause of freedom has flourished, was discovered by a great Italian, Christopher Columbus. Both continents of this new world have been largely settled and developed by men and women of Italian birth.

"We look to Rome as the cradle of our civilization, and, for many of us, the eternal citadel of our religious faith.

"We have fought for freedom on our own shores. We have fought for freedom in Europe, in Africa, in Asia. Today, the whole world has seen too much of the savagery and destruction of war and wants to see no more of it. We believe that war can be avoided if the free peoples of the world will keep strong their democratic institutions by resisting all the sinister forces of intimidation which seek to destroy them from within.

"We Americans want the Italian people to know that we are with them wholeheartedly in their struggle to maintain their freedom and their dignity in a world that is again darkened with the threat of oppression and slavery."

The Housing War

Senator Charles Tobey of New Hampshire clomped angrily out of a joint Congressional housing meeting the other day, leading a wholesale walkout, after his fellow Republican, Senator Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin, got wound up in a filibuster against public housing. It was an incident which every man looking for a home should know about.

Tobey had the majority for a bill which would provide 15,000,000 homes in ten years. McCarthy, faced with defeat, tried to stall.

Forthright Senator John Sparkman of Alabama had suggested that the Committee take up the recommendations of Senator Ralph Flanders, Vermont Republican. These were almost identical to McCarthy's own recommendations, except for two glaring exceptions: Flanders proposed building 500,000 units under a four-year public housing program; also farm housing on a large scale.

McCarthy protested that these issues were too controversial and should be presented in separate bills: Seeing the scales tipped against him, he urged the vote be delayed until Congressman Frank Sundstrom of New Jersey, Congressman Wright Patman of Texas and Senator Harry Cain of Washington were present.

This touched off the fireworks.

"It looks," snorted San Diego's Congressman Charles Fletcher, who was elected by the California real-estate lobby, "like some unfair shilly-shallying."

"If there is any shilly-shallying," snapped Sparkman, "we learned it from you at the first meeting. Only this time we have more men to shilly-shally."

McCarthy then threatened to discuss "suggested changes in the staff report"—92 of them altogether—which brought an immediate charge from Senator Tobey of filibustering.

"This is just an obvious attempt," he fumed, "to put off voting today!"

"I want to know," demanded Alabamac's Congressman Albert Rains, "if you are a one-man filibuster."

"I intend to talk until Patman and Sundstrom show up," shot back McCarthy.

"It won't do you any good to wait for Patman," snapped Rains. "He's on our side."

"We are all adults," soothed McCarthy. "Let's be sensible about this."

Tobey Erupts

But he stuck stubbornly to his position, refusing to yield until Tobey would agree to postpone the vote.

As McCarthy talked on, Sparkman passed a copy of Flanders' public housing recommendations around the table until a majority had signed it. With this done Tobey jumped to his feet, shouting:

"I am not going to stay here and take any part in this if there is going to be a filibuster!"

He marched out. Since a majority had signed the Flanders report in favor of Government-financed low-cost housing, the rest drifted after him. McCarthy was left talking—to himself.

Note—The committee met next morning, tempers cooler, and formally adopted Flanders' recommendations. McCarthy accepted the farm housing proposal after it was agreed to give congested cities first priority. But he and Fletcher held out against public housing to the last, even after everyone else had joined with Tobey.

Meanwhile, Senator Bob Taft, though he has done nothing to push his own Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill, now refuses to scrap it to make way for the joint housing committee's recommendations. Result: The Flanders proposals will have to be added as amendments, although they will almost completely replace Taft's bill.

Importance Of MacArthur's Candidacy Rests On Wisconsin

By MARK SULLIVAN

To an extraordinary degree the Republican Presidential situation is focused in the extremely vigorous contest now under way in Wisconsin, looking to the primary April 6. The exceptional importance of this contest, and the acute interest in it, would be sufficiently explained by the political vitality of the State and acceptance of it as a microcosm. In 1944, the Republican primary in Wisconsin was sensationally decisive in the fate of an outstanding national figure. Wendell Willkie, seeking the Presidential nomination, campaigned vigorously in the State, and upon news of his serious defeat formally retired from the race.

This normal importance of Wisconsin is now increased by the fact that General MacArthur is a contender. If he should carry the primary, and especially if he should do this conspicuously, he would be an indubitably formidable figure, national party leaders and the public would be obliged to take serious account of him. Correspondingly, any conspicuous failure of MacArthur in Wisconsin—which is his native state and in which several conditions are especially favorable to him—would be a serious setback.

Curious Importance Given

A curious and conspicuous additional importance is given the Wisconsin primary by the effect that MacArthur's presence in it will have on the fortunes of two other contenders, Governor Dewey and ex-Governor Stassen. But for the entry of MacArthur, these two could have fought out the Wisconsin contest to a clearcut showing of their relative strength, as was the case in the only other primary so far held, the New Hampshire one, where Dewey won six delegates, Stassen two.

Stassen, to establish himself clearly on the top level among leaders in the race, needs greatly to carry a state, one or more, other than his home Minnesota. For this, Wisconsin presented a favorable opportunity, it adjoins Minnesota and is much like it in population and political tendencies.

The interest of Dewey in the Wisconsin race was, and is, that by carrying it he would buttress his present elevation in the national race; indeed, victory in Wisconsin especially if conspicuous, might give him a momentum toward a clear headship over all the other contenders. Correspondingly, loss of Wisconsin, especially if conspicuous, would be more than an ordinary setback to his present momentum.

While the outcome in Wisconsin is still important to Dewey and to Stassen, and while each must strive to make the best possible showing, any simple and clearcut demonstration of their respective strengths is made impossible by the presence of MacArthur in the race, and the importance his candidacy has. For the votes MacArthur gets include many that otherwise would have gone Dewey, and yet others that would have gone to Stassen.

Favorable Conditions Formidable

The conditions favorable to MacArthur are as a sum formidable. Although he has had few direct contacts with the State during his career in the Army, the sentiment that goes to a native son remains strong and is intensified by the glamour and eminence of his career. Four years ago, without encouragement from MacArthur, some delegates favorable to him were elected. Leaders now supporting him come from both sides of a cleavage long deep in Wisconsin. One of the most aggressive MacArthur supporters is Philip LaFollette, formerly a leader in the Progressive Party and Governor of the state as that party's representative. Another especially vigorous MacArthur supporter, a candidate for delegate on the MacArthur ticket, is a former Republican governor, Fred Zimmerman, very popular in the state (though some leaders in the Republican state organization are supporting Stassen and others Dewey).

Until the Wisconsin primary April 6 the Republican presidential situation will remain in suspense, and a certain amount of revaluation will follow. Thereafter, much importance will attach to the preferential primary in Nebraska April 13. This is an over-all free-for-all popularity contest. By initiation of persons within the state, with a wish to bring about a comprehensive test of Republican voters' wishes, all the candidates or serious possibilities, whether announced or not, including Senator Vandenberg, were put on the primary ticket.

Control Over Corruption At Election Polls Is At Stake

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 17. — If Judge Moore's decision that Congress does not have power under the Constitution to regulate expenditures in national elections is upheld by the Supreme Court, the way is opened to the greatest orgy of slush-fund spending to influence elections that this nation has ever witnessed.

Anybody—whether a rich corporation or a multimillionaire or a labor union with millions of dues collected—will be able to spend money for propaganda or anything else involving expressions of opinions about candidates, and presumably Congress will be unable, by legislation, to stop such undue pressure.

For several decades the courts have recognized that free elections can be held only if limits are placed upon the amount of money that can be spent in elections. There are dozens of provisions of law relating to such restrictions.

But year after year evasions occurred. For a long time Congress prohibited political contributions by corporations. Then, during wartime, under the Smith-Connally Act, it prohibited such contributions by labor unions. Finally, after an exhaustive investigation, a Senate committee, composed of Republicans and Democrats, reported unanimously that to prohibit "contributions" to political committees was not enough and that it was the spending of money which had to be restricted if elections were to be free.

Frees All To Spend Lavishly

Congress, while considering the Taft-Hartley law, picked up the recommendations of the Senate committee and wrote a provision amplifying the existing statutes on corrupt practices. But when Judge Moore holds that this provision is invalid for labor unions, it means that the corporations and everybody else are likewise free to spend without limit, all under the excuse that the Constitution guarantees freedom of speech and of the press.

It is interesting to note that the Supreme Court had no such compunction about the freedom-of-speech clause when it upheld a lower court ruling forbidding an employer to speak to his employes during working hours prior to a collective-bargaining election. The theory of the court has been that the first amendment does not protect againsnt the right of Congress to regulate labor relations.

Judge Moore's decision is full of inconsistencies and fallacies. Thus, he says that Congress has only the right to prohibit specific acts of corruption in elections and that to spend money to express views on elections is not subject to regulation as to amount or anything else.

This is indeed novel, for it also would strike down the right of Congress to prohibit political contributions or to regulate their amount. This is because there is very little difference between a contribution made to a political party organization of committee by a corporation or labor union and a contribution made to a group or organization disconnected from party organizations but set up to conduct propaganda campaigns.

Actually Judge Moore must have overlooked the fact that to forbid labor unions or corporations from spending the funds of their members or stockholders, respectively, for political campaigning does not, as he says, deprive them of their opportunities to participate in campaigns or express their views. They can do so as individuals now, and always could. But union dues come from "closed shop" members, who would lose their jobs if they failed to pay dues, and from "union shop" members, who would be subjected to penalties if they did not allow their dues to be used for political purposes. To misuse these dues is to deprive individuals of their right to withhold expenditures for political campaigns when they themselves might have different political views than the unions.

Congress' Constitutional Power

If Congress cannot regulate the use of trust funds collected by corporations and labor unions for one purpose and used for another, then Congress has lost much of the constitutional power which the courts have hitherto bestowed on the national legislative body.

Judge Moore is a New Deal judge. He was appointed by the late President Roosevelt in 1941. For many years he was a member of a law firm which has been and is counsel for the United Mine Workers in West Virginia. Judge Moore's decision reads like the briefs filed by the CIO. If that kind of law is upheld by the Supreme Court, then federal controls over corruption at the polls may be said to be at an end, and the clock will be turned back to the wickedness which was witnessed in the early part of this century and which gave rise to the present provisions of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

More On The Condon Case

REPRESENTATIVE Holifield of California on March 9 inserted in the Congressional Record a prolonged address in defense of Dr. Edward U. Condon which makes very interesting reading. However, I note that he said that the American Soviet Science Society "is not affiliated with the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship," which has been declared a subversive organization by Attorney General Clark.

That was not true on March 8 when I made an examination of the fact. I found that both organizations used the same office and the same telephone as of that day. I found that the American-Soviet Science Society is listed at 114 East 32 Street, telephone Murray Hill 3-2080; the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship is listed at 114 East 32 Street, telephone Murray Hill 3-2080. I found that the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc. occupies Rooms 803-5 in that building, while the American-Soviet Science Society occupies Room 804. Also in Room 804 is the American-Soviet Music Society. In Room 803 is the Reporter on American-Soviet Relations. This is a suite of rooms used by affiliated organizations.

Perhaps Representative Holifield can explain this coincidence. Perhaps he knows why two offices that have nothing to do with each other, "are not affiliated," live in the same room, have the same telephone, undoubtedly use the same office help. He admits:

"It is true that the society grew out of a committee connected with the national council at that (sic) time of the war when Russia was our ally . . ."

He then lists a number of distinguished and undistinguished persons who joined this organization during the war. If we were to hold everybody responsible for his attitude toward Soviet Russia during the war, most who today most violently attack Russia would be condemned for their former stupidity.

However, the war is over and even those who felt that they had to go along with a so-called ally are discovering that Soviet Russia was never an ally; that Soviet Russia used this country to her advantage and to our detriment. But March 9 is a late date to keep on repeating the same errors.

Therefore, when Representative Holifield said on March 9 what was untrue, by investigation, on March 8, one is startled. For he repeats ". . . The American-Soviet Science Society long ago severed connection with the national council . . ." On March 8, this was not true. Both organizations were connected by operating on the same premises and by using the same telephone. I wonder if Representative Holifield investigated this "separation" or was just told about it by someone.

I had not known that Dr. Condon had suggested that the employees of the National Bureau of Standards join this organization which on March 8, 1948, was in the same offices and used the same telephone as the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, the latter having been declared to be a subversive organization. He apparently did that and Representative Holifield defends that action. In fact he says:

"In passing, I would like to point out that these attacks on this society, aside from their utter absurdity and untruth, have resulted in hindering an activity of vital interest to the security and defense of this country, for the society was doing work for the armed forces."

That requires some explanation. Precisely how would something called American-Soviet Science Society "be of vital interest to the security and defense of this country?" That sentence implies that the interchange of scientific information between the United States and Soviet Russia can benefit the United States. I wonder if Representative Holifield of California would list, without unnecessary comment, so that we can stack one against the other, how much exchanging the United States has done and how much Soviet Russia has done.

Precisely what data did Russia send to this country for our advantage? How many, by name, please, American scientists were permitted to work in Russian research laboratories and to bring out for our use whatever data they obtained in such laboratories?

Representative Holifield makes a categorical statement: let him produce some evidence, factual, irrefutable evidence that can be investigated and checked. It would be valuable to the American people to know the facts.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The line-up is MacArthur, Truman, Eisenhower, Stassen, Dewey, Bricker and Taft. If the office space seeks the man there isn't desk room for everybody.

I'll say one thing about these political Ides of March. They constitute the most exciting lull we ever saw.

It will be impossible to keep up this pace until the Philadelphia conventions. But even the guys who fall by the wayside are not out of business. They can open up hot dog stands.

Between you and me and the compromise candidate we know the best man will win or demand a recount. They always do.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Teen-Age Girl Is Advised To Leave Married Men Alone

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl still in my teens and about a year ago had my first real date with a boy about 24. He was married but his wife had not been true to him, so they got a divorce. I went with him for quite some time but finally we broke up over a silly little thing. It was not until afterward that I realized I was very much in love with him. Meanwhile, he started going out with another girl and in a so-called "must" case got married. He told me he never really loved anyone but me but married because he had to. Now I find no matter who I have a date with, I am not happy.

I'd like to know if I should keep on seeing this man and do wrong by breaking up their marriage, or try to forget him.

"BROKEN-HEARTED."

Dear "Broken-Hearted:"

I think you already know the answer to your own question since you admit that you would be doing wrong to keep on seeing this man. It is a very poor idea indeed for any girl to foster a friendship with a married man, as you certainly must realize. Besides this, it is rather hard to understand why you want a man who tells you he never loved anyone but you, but at the same time could go out and get himself so involved with another girl that he was forced to marry her. If you have any sense at all, you will put this man out of your mind at once and for good. He would be a poor enough risk for an older woman than you are, and a teenager like yourself should have nothing whatever to do with him.

Question From Ex-GI

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I wonder if you could tell me where I could write to find another ex-GI's address. When I was stationed in England, one of my friends was a GI in another outfit, but when I was sent to France, I lost touch with him. No I would like to find him again.

Dear "E-GI:"

I am afraid that your chances of locating this friend are rather remote. But you might try writing a letter to the following:

Cresap Chapter Is Commended By State DAR

Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met at the home of Mrs. William Claus, The Dingle, yesterday, with Mrs. Ella Carter Hodgson presiding and giving a comprehensive report of the two-day conference of the Maryland State Society, DAR, in Baltimore, last week. She announced that the state group paid special recognition to Mrs. Claus, chairman of American Music, for having the most outstanding report on the subject.

S. Lua Syckes, musical instructor at Allegany High School, was the guest speaker. Discussing "American Music," he chose to discuss the presidents of the United States and their contribution to the music of the country.

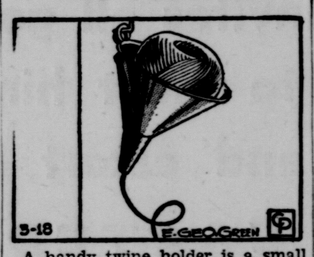

Taking each in turn he said that Washington loved music and himself played the violin. Jefferson was musical in every way, encouraged it, and while president, formed an orchestra at the White House and selected his gardener, coachman and various servants who could play for his orchestra.

Dolly Madison was one of the outstanding pianists in the country at the time she was in the White House. Lincoln particularly loved to sing hymns and encouraged the colored people of Washington to come to the lawn or veranda of the White House to sing, and they often did.

Theodore Roosevelt was really interested in music, the speaker said, and was the first president to go into it in a big way, having had opera stars and symphony orchestras at the White House. It was Arthur who had Lohengrin's wedding march played at his daughter's wedding, beginning the custom in America. In his youth and later life Harding was a professional trombone player. The Franklin Roosevelts also were very musical and invited all musicians to the White House. He also touched on Truman's piano playing and said some of the presidents did not care for music at all, others only in a casual way, and did nothing about it.

The house and tea table were elaborately decorated with bouquets of jonquils and tulips. Mrs. H. F. Wyatt assisted in serving. The birthday party of Cresap Chapter will be celebrated at the April 14 meeting at the home of Mrs. E. R. Kellough, Washington Street.

Motorist Draws 50-Day Sentence

Leroy C. Lockhard, Corriganville, an unemployed Army veteran, was committed to the County Jail for 50 days yesterday after he was unable to pay fines totaling $122.25 on three state motor charges in Trial Magistrates Court.

Lockard and a companion, Cecil H. Meyers, also of Corriganville, were arrested by State Police about 1 a. m. yesterday on Mt. Savage Road near McCray's Store, two miles north of Corriganville, after the car in which they were riding hit a stone wall, plunged over an embankment and landed in a creek.

Lockard was given 30 days in default of $100.75 fine for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. A sentence of 10 days was meted out in lieu of $10.75 on a reckless driving count, with another 10-day sentence in default of $10.75 for driving without a license.

Myers, identified by Trooper G. M. Rotruck as the owner of the car, was fined $10.75 for permitting an unlicensed operator to drive his machine. Both men pleaded guilty to the charges. Lockard suffered facial injuries in the accident.

A 37-year-old motorist, Emmett L. Merat, Route 2, Flintstone, who was arrested Saturday night after a pickup truck-car collision at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre Streets, was fined $11.45 for reckless driving.

Merat was acquitted on a drunken driving count after he testified he was subject to malaria attacks and had to take atabrine. Police said the machine driven by Merat hit the rear of an Astor cab operated by "Buddy" Rice, this city.

Officer John G. Powers made the arrest. Merat, represented by William L. Wilson, Jr., pleaded not guilty to both charges.

Charles W. Miller, Route 1, this city, forfeited $6.45 bond for parking on the highway in LaVale on February 29.

Charged with failing to halt at a stop sign on Route 220 at Cresaptown last Wednesday, Leonard O. Bibley, Route 4, forfeited $6.45. The same amount was forfeited by Daniel R. Thayer, 10 North Main Street, Keyser, W. Va., for failing to stop for a school bus on Route 40 at Narrows Park last Thursday.

State Trooper William F. Baker preferred charges.

Legion Official Appeals For UMT

KEYSER, W. Va.—Urging support of universal military training, Myron R. Renick, Fayettesville, W. Va., national vice-commander of the American Legion, spoke before 300 persons attending the twenty-ninth anniversary banquet at the home of Boyce-Houser Post No. 41, American Legion, Tuesday night.

Using as his subject "The Future Military Success of the Nation," Renick outlined the ten-point program of the Legion in regard to the UMT proposal. He said American Legion support of the training program dates back to 1919, and that the United States is the only major power that does not have some form of training today.

As a result of Legion efforts for the program, a bill is now before Congress which provides for UMT under civilian administration, Renick said.

The main objection to the program has been the cost, Renick said, but a survey by the Legion has revealed that the cost of one year of World War II would keep the UMT program going 300 years.

Motorist Draws 50-Day Sentence

Leroy C. Lockhard, Corriganville, an unemployed Army veteran, was committed to the County Jail for 50 days yesterday after he was unable to pay fines totaling $122.25 on three state motor charges in Trial Magistrates Court.

Lockard and a companion, Cecil H. Meyers, also of Corriganville, were arrested by State Police about 1 a. m. yesterday on Mt. Savage Road near McCray's Store, two miles north of Corriganville, after the car in which they were riding hit a stone wall, plunged over an embankment and landed in a creek.

Lockard was given 30 days in default of $100.75 fine for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. A sentence of 10 days was meted out in lieu of $10.75 on a reckless driving count, with another 10-day sentence in default of $10.75 for driving without a license.

Myers, identified by Trooper G. M. Rotruck as the owner of the car, was fined $10.75 for permitting an unlicensed operator to drive his machine. Both men pleaded guilty to the charges. Lockard suffered facial injuries in the accident.

A 37-year-old motorist, Emmett L. Merat, Route 2, Flintstone, who was arrested Saturday night after a pickup truck-car collision at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre Streets, was fined $11.45 for reckless driving.

Merat was acquitted on a drunken driving count after he testified he was subject to malaria attacks and had to take atabrine. Police said the machine driven by Merat hit the rear of an Astor cab operated by "Buddy" Rice, this city.

Officer John G. Powers made the arrest. Merat, represented by William L. Wilson, Jr., pleaded not guilty to both charges.

Charles W. Miller, Route 1, this city, forfeited $6.45 bond for parking on the highway in LaVale on February 29.

Charged with failing to halt at a stop sign on Route 220 at Cresaptown last Wednesday, Leonard O. Bibley, Route 4, forfeited $6.45. The same amount was forfeited by Daniel R. Thayer, 10 North Main Street, Keyser, W. Va., for failing to stop for a school bus on Route 40 at Narrows Park last Thursday.

State Trooper William F. Baker preferred charges.

Brother Benildus To Be Beatified

His Holiness Pope Pius XII will officiate at solemn ceremonies of beatification for Brother Benildus, F.S.C., a Brother of the Christian Schools, in the Basilica of St. Peter's, Rome, on April 4, at 10 a. m., according to word received here at LaSalle High, conducted by the Christian Brothers under the direction of Brother Clement, principal.

Brother Benildus will be the second Christian Brother to be beatified. The other is Blessed Brother Solomon, F.S.C., who was martyred during the French Revolution and was beatified by Pope Pius XI in 1926.

The founder of the Christian Brothers has achieved sainthood. He was St. John Baptist de LaSalle, a French priest who founded the Brothers in 1680. He was beatified in 1888 and canonized in 1900.

Brother Benildus was a native of Thuret, France, and at an early age entered the novitiate of the Christian Brothers. After 18 years of teaching, he became director of a large school at Saugues, where his piety and zeal attracted more than 300 of his pupils to the religious life.

He died August 13, 1862, of an illness which had caused him much suffering for many years. His tomb at Saugues has become a popular pilgrimage place. His beatification comes in the centenary year of the Christian Brothers in the United States and their fortieth year in Cumberland.

Vale Summit Road Closing Protested

The closing yesterday of the Clarysville-Midland road to remove several thousand dollars worth of coal in a strip mining operation has resulted in a petition protesting the action.

Closing of the road has been planned for sometime, but only recently an agreement was reached between the Frostburg Coal and Realty Company and the State Roads Commission. It is located a few hundred yards southwest of Vale Summit and extends for 165 feet.

The road is used largely by workers of Celanese of Midland and Lonaconing areas in commuting to and from work.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer, said the road will probably be closed at the point for "less than three weeks."

Brother Benildus To Be Beatified

His Holiness Pope Pius XII will officiate at solemn ceremonies of beatification for Brother Benildus, F.S.C., a Brother of the Christian Schools, in the Basilica of St. Peter's, Rome, on April 4, at 10 a. m., according to word received here at LaSalle High, conducted by the Christian Brothers under the direction of Brother Clement, principal.

Brother Benildus will be the second Christian Brother to be beatified. The other is Blessed Brother Solomon, F.S.C., who was martyred during the French Revolution and was beatified by Pope Pius XI in 1926.

The founder of the Christian Brothers has achieved sainthood. He was St. John Baptist de LaSalle, a French priest who founded the Brothers in 1680. He was beatified in 1888 and canonized in 1900.

Brother Benildus was a native of Thuret, France, and at an early age entered the novitiate of the Christian Brothers. After 18 years of teaching, he became director of a large school at Saugues, where his piety and zeal attracted more than 300 of his pupils to the religious life.

He died August 13, 1862, of an illness which had caused him much suffering for many years. His tomb at Saugues has become a popular pilgrimage place. His beatification comes in the centenary year of the Christian Brothers in the United States and their fortieth year in Cumberland.

Vale Summit Road Closing Protested

The closing yesterday of the Clarysville-Midland road to remove several thousand dollars worth of coal in a strip mining operation has resulted in a petition protesting the action.

Closing of the road has been planned for sometime, but only recently an agreement was reached between the Frostburg Coal and Realty Company and the State Roads Commission. It is located a few hundred yards southwest of Vale Summit and extends for 165 feet.

The road is used largely by workers of Celanese of Midland and Lonaconing areas in commuting to and from work.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer, said the road will probably be closed at the point for "less than three weeks."

the convenience and new beauty of our banking rooms

When a banking institution attains a position of leadership, it is through a recognition by the public, whom it serves, of certain qualities and attributes. Simply to grow large is not enough. With increased size must come not only improved facilities, but a greater desire and opportunity for service.

A bank grows great only through the confidence of its customers and the community it serves. To retain this confidence it must continue to hold their friendship and loyalty. Since 1811, The First National Bank of Cumberland has grown with the progress of Cumberland and the State of Maryland. This, in turn, has enabled it to have a vital part in developing the natural resources and industries of this region and to use its financial strength in helping trade and commerce to expand.

Whether you are a customer of this bank or not, you have a pride and a part in its growth and its contribution to this community. Correspondingly, this bank has an obligation and a responsibility to you — which it recognizes — to use its financial leadership wisely and constructively.

The First National Bank has just completed a program of extensive modernization and redecoration to more efficiently and courteously serve the banking requirements of all its customers, both large and small.

When a banking institution attains a position of leadership, it is through a recognition by the public, whom it serves, of certain qualities and attributes. Simply to grow large is not enough. With increased size must come not only improved facilities, but a greater desire and opportunity for service.

A bank grows great only through the confidence of its customers and the community it serves. To retain this confidence it must continue to hold their friendship and loyalty. Since 1811, The First National Bank of Cumberland has grown with the progress of Cumberland and the State of Maryland. This, in turn, has enabled it to have a vital part in developing the natural resources and industries of this region and to use its financial strength in helping trade and commerce to expand.

Whether you are a customer of this bank or not, you have a pride and a part in its growth and its contribution to this community. Correspondingly, this bank has an obligation and a responsibility to you — which it recognizes — to use its financial leadership wisely and constructively.

The First National Bank has just completed a program of extensive modernization and redecoration to more efficiently and courteously serve the banking requirements of all its customers, both large and small.

Westernport Boys Win, 39 To 15; Central Sextet Loses

Wallop Sparks Quint To Cop Western Title

Losers Are Held To Five Field Goals

Bruce High School, Westernport, Md., won the western shore Maryland Class "C" scholastic basketball tournament yesterday afternoon by defeating Sparks High School of Baltimore county at Towson, Md., 39 to 15.

The Allegany county champs, coached by Jack Petry, had little trouble with Sparks as they took a commanding lead at the beginning of the game and were never headed thereafter.

Led by big Don Moran, all WMI League center, the Westernport five hopped off to a 10-3 lead in the first quarter. Holding their opponents to five field goals, the Petrymen increased their margin to 21-7 at halftime and 34-10 at the close of the third period.

Moran pumped seven field goals through the nets, two more than the entire Sparks quintet could garner, and added two fouls to cop scoring honors for the game with a total of 16 points.

Bruce will now play host to Princess Anne High School of Somerset county either Friday or Saturday in the finals of the Class "C" tournament.

Petry substituted freely in the contest with 11 Bruce players seeing action. The subs played the greater part of the second half. The lineups:

WEST POINT, N. Y., March 17 (INS)—Herman Hickman, the Army line coach who has signed as head football coach at Yale, today formally denied all rumors as to how much he weighs.

"Most scales go only to 300 pounds," he said. "For that reason I have trouble keeping track of my weight.

"But right now, stripped, I'd do 292 or 303—and not 400 or 500 as some people keep insisting."

St. Louis Tops NYU In Finals At Garden, 65-52

Western Kentucky Defeats DePaul

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—The St. Louis Billikens, sparked by All-America center Ed MaCauley, smothered New York University, 65-52, tonight to win the National Invitation Basketball Tournament and qualify for the olympic tryouts.

The fast-breaking Billikens dominated play practically from the start and finished the game with all their regulars on the sidelines.

Boyish, stringbean MaCauley tossed in 24 points before he was given a deserved rest with five minutes to go.

St. Louis had a 25-18 lead at halftime and then pulled away steadily after intermission to leave little doubt about the ultimate outcome.

Western Kentucky defeated DePaul, 61 to 59, tonight in a rousing overtime contest to win the third place consolation in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

The game was played preliminary to the championship game between St. Louis University and New York University.

The regulation playing time ended with the two teams knotted 53-53 after DePaul had pulled up from behind.

Twenty seconds before the final whistle DePaul trailed 53-52 and White Kachan of DePaul came up with two free throws that could have given his team the victory.

Kachan made the first one and missed the second and the score was tied 53-53.

Western Kentucky pulled ahead, 59-53, in the five-minute overtime before DePaul staged another rally.

Ridgeley Meets Clarksburg Five In 7 P. M. Tilt

Blackhawks Leave For Morgantown

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 17—(AP)—Tournament fever mounted along the banks of the Monongahela tonight on the eve of the 35th annual struggle for state high school basketball supremacy.

Princeton's strong Tigers and Huntington's East's defending champions already were on the scene as thousands of fans began to arrive for the colorful, four-session, three-day eliminations beginning tomorrow afternoon.

Quietly confident, Quentin Barnette led his Princeton squad through a short workout at Morgantown High School after indicating he was certain his well-balanced team would "give Charleston a ball game" in the opening first round contest tomorrow at 2 p. m.

Ridgeley Dark Horse

Following that meeting of the two southern giants will come Weirton's tussle with West Fairmont, and two night contests that will send Clarksburg's Washington Irving against Ridgeley's dark horse five and Huntington East against little Webster Springs.

East, which won its first state title last year in Aldo Valetti's first year of coaching there, also arrived tonight after a final drill at Fairmont.

Only two of the other finalists besides East have won the cherished state crown. Charleston, now paced by big Mark Workman, was victorious in 1915 and in 1924. West Fairmont has won three times, its last title coming in 1942.

Past records show that Weirton and West Fairmont—who divided regular season games this year—last met in tournament play in the 1942 finals with the Polar Bears outlasting Weirton 38-37.

Charleston worked out in Grafton today and will find itself the general favorite upon its arrival here tomorrow morning. The reason for its high spot centers on Workman and his 825 points in 25 games to date. He made good 60 per cent of his shots as the Mountain Lions won 23 of 25.

Ridgeley Plays WI

Coach Jesse Riggleman will take a squad of 10 players from Ridgeley High School to Morgantown, W. Va., for their opening round game in the West Virginia State championship basketball tournament tonight. Two team managers will also accompany the team.

Ridgeley, Region No. 4 champions by virtue of their victories over Hedgesville, 41-28, and Moorefield 40-31, in the regional playoffs at Keyser, K. Va., will meet Washington Irving High School of Clarksburg in the third game of the quarter-final round at 7 o'clock tonight. The team will leave the school by car at 9:30 a. m. this morning.

Washington Irving is coached by Clay B. Hite and won 15 games while losing three during the regular season. Victories over Shinnston and Bristol gave WI the sectional honors and the Hitemen copped the regional diadem by defeating West Union and Victory High of Clarksburg.

Ten Players Make Trip

The 10 players and two managers slated to make the trip with Coach Riggleman are Paul Lindsay, Bill Brehany, Joe Moss, Clyde Wilson, Roy Comer, Mike Lehman, Leo Day, Dick Dorsey, Paul Fisher, Don Loy, Jim Rowe and Lemuel "Buck" Powers. The latter two are the managers.

Each team scheduled to play in the tournament has a local sponsor at Morgantown who will have charge of all arrangements and be official guide for the visiting players. Eddie Beach, star center of the varsity West Virginia Mountaineer cage team, is the Ridgeley sponsor.

The team will stay at the Boys' dormitory on the university campus at Morgantown.

Visitors Lose At Foul Stripe

Sharpshooting at the foul line enabled the Richard Montgomery High School sextet from Rockville, Montgomery county, to trip the Central High School of Lonaconing girls, 43 to 36 in the finals of the Class "C" Maryland Western Shore basketball tournament yesterday afternoon at Rockville.

Coach Elva Lov Davis' Central lassies outscored the victors, 17 to 14, from the field but the Rockville six hooped 15 of 23 free throws to edge the visiting team.

The Lonaconing sextet was hampered by the calling of a new type blocking foul which they had never come in contact with before. The game was cleanly played and neither team lost a player via the foul route, but the frequent calling of the blocking foul gave the local team its margin in foul tries.

Coney held the winners to a 12-10 margin at the quarter but trailed 21-16 at intermission and 29-20 at the close of the third period.

Rockville maintained a lead of from eight to 12 points throughout the final three periods and it was the use of substitutes in the final stanza that enabled Central to close the gap to seven points.

Lois Cook and Althea Beeman topped the Central attack with 16 points apiece. Miss Cook hooped seven field goals and two fouls while Miss Beeman tallied eight fielders.

Miss Frost scored 20 points on six field goals and eight of ten foul tries, while her teammate Miss Dawson tallied 13 markers on six fielders and a singleton.

Rockville will meet Denton High School of Caroline county, Eastern Shore, either Friday or Saturday in the finals of the Class "C" tournament. The lineups:

Losers Are Held To Five Field Goals

Bruce High School, Westernport, Md., won the western shore Maryland Class "C" scholastic basketball tournament yesterday afternoon by defeating Sparks High School of Baltimore county at Towson, Md., 39 to 15.

Led by big Don Moran, all WMI League center, the Westernport five hopped off to a 10-3 lead in the first quarter. Holding their opponents to five field goals, the Petrymen increased their margin to 21-7 at halftime and 34-10 at the close of the third period.

Bruce will now play host to Princess Anne High School of Somerset county either Friday or Saturday in the finals of the Class "C" tournament.

Western Kentucky Defeats DePaul

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—The St. Louis Billikens, sparked by All-America center Ed MaCauley, smothered New York University, 65-52, tonight to win the National Invitation Basketball Tournament and qualify for the olympic tryouts.

The fast-breaking Billikens dominated play practically from the start and finished the game with all their regulars on the sidelines.

Boyish, stringbean MaCauley tossed in 24 points before he was given a deserved rest with five minutes to go.

St. Louis had a 25-18 lead at halftime and then pulled away steadily after intermission to leave little doubt about the ultimate outcome.

Western Kentucky defeated DePaul, 61 to 59, tonight in a rousing overtime contest to win the third place consolation in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

The game was played preliminary to the championship game between St. Louis University and New York University.

The regulation playing time ended with the two teams knotted 53-53 after DePaul had pulled up from behind.

Twenty seconds before the final whistle DePaul trailed 53-52 and White Kachan of DePaul came up with two free throws that could have given his team the victory.

Kachan made the first one and missed the second and the score was tied 53-53.

Western Kentucky pulled ahead, 59-53, in the five-minute overtime before DePaul staged another rally.

Ridgeley Meets Clarksburg Five In 7 P. M. Tilt

Blackhawks Leave For Morgantown

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 17—(AP)—Tournament fever mounted along the banks of the Monongahela tonight on the eve of the 35th annual struggle for state high school basketball supremacy.

Princeton's strong Tigers and Huntington's East's defending champions already were on the scene as thousands of fans began to arrive for the colorful, four-session, three-day eliminations beginning tomorrow afternoon.

Quietly confident, Quentin Barnette led his Princeton squad through a short workout at Morgantown High School after indicating he was certain his well-balanced team would "give Charleston a ball game" in the opening first round contest tomorrow at 2 p. m.

Ridgeley Dark Horse

Following that meeting of the two southern giants will come Weirton's tussle with West Fairmont, and two night contests that will send Clarksburg's Washington Irving against Ridgeley's dark horse five and Huntington East against little Webster Springs.

East, which won its first state title last year in Aldo Valetti's first year of coaching there, also arrived tonight after a final drill at Fairmont.

Only two of the other finalists besides East have won the cherished state crown. Charleston, now paced by big Mark Workman, was victorious in 1915 and in 1924. West Fairmont has won three times, its last title coming in 1942.

Past records show that Weirton and West Fairmont—who divided regular season games this year—last met in tournament play in the 1942 finals with the Polar Bears outlasting Weirton 38-37.

Charleston worked out in Grafton today and will find itself the general favorite upon its arrival here tomorrow morning. The reason for its high spot centers on Workman and his 825 points in 25 games to date. He made good 60 per cent of his shots as the Mountain Lions won 23 of 25.

Ridgeley Plays WI

Coach Jesse Riggleman will take a squad of 10 players from Ridgeley High School to Morgantown, W. Va., for their opening round game in the West Virginia State championship basketball tournament tonight. Two team managers will also accompany the team.

Ridgeley, Region No. 4 champions by virtue of their victories over Hedgesville, 41-28, and Moorefield 40-31, in the regional playoffs at Keyser, K. Va., will meet Washington Irving High School of Clarksburg in the third game of the quarter-final round at 7 o'clock tonight. The team will leave the school by car at 9:30 a. m. this morning.

Washington Irving is coached by Clay B. Hite and won 15 games while losing three during the regular season. Victories over Shinnston and Bristol gave WI the sectional honors and the Hitemen copped the regional diadem by defeating West Union and Victory High of Clarksburg.

Ten Players Make Trip

The 10 players and two managers slated to make the trip with Coach Riggleman are Paul Lindsay, Bill Brehany, Joe Moss, Clyde Wilson, Roy Comer, Mike Lehman, Leo Day, Dick Dorsey, Paul Fisher, Don Loy, Jim Rowe and Lemuel "Buck" Powers. The latter two are the managers.

Each team scheduled to play in the tournament has a local sponsor at Morgantown who will have charge of all arrangements and be official guide for the visiting players. Eddie Beach, star center of the varsity West Virginia Mountaineer cage team, is the Ridgeley sponsor.

The team will stay at the Boys' dormitory on the university campus at Morgantown.

Visitors Lose At Foul Stripe

Sharpshooting at the foul line enabled the Richard Montgomery High School sextet from Rockville, Montgomery county, to trip the Central High School of Lonaconing girls, 43 to 36 in the finals of the Class "C" Maryland Western Shore basketball tournament yesterday afternoon at Rockville.

Coach Elva Lov Davis' Central lassies outscored the victors, 17 to 14, from the field but the Rockville six hooped 15 of 23 free throws to edge the visiting team.

The Lonaconing sextet was hampered by the calling of a new type blocking foul which they had never come in contact with before. The game was cleanly played and neither team lost a player via the foul route, but the frequent calling of the blocking foul gave the local team its margin in foul tries.

Coney held the winners to a 12-10 margin at the quarter but trailed 21-16 at intermission and 29-20 at the close of the third period.

Rockville maintained a lead of from eight to 12 points throughout the final three periods and it was the use of substitutes in the final stanza that enabled Central to close the gap to seven points.

Lois Cook and Althea Beeman topped the Central attack with 16 points apiece. Miss Cook hooped seven field goals and two fouls while Miss Beeman tallied eight fielders.

Miss Frost scored 20 points on six field goals and eight of ten foul tries, while her teammate Miss Dawson tallied 13 markers on six fielders and a singleton.

Rockville will meet Denton High School of Caroline county, Eastern Shore, either Friday or Saturday in the finals of the Class "C" tournament. The lineups:

Central (36)	Pos.	Rockville (43)
Cook	f	Copping
Beeman	f	Dawson
Henry	f	Frost
Weber	g	Carlin
Crosser	g	Federline
Dye	g	Diehl

Score by periods:

CENTRAL	10	6	4	16—36
ROCKVILLE	12	9	8	14—43

Substitutes — Central — Smith, Dilfer, Clark. Rockville—Cole, O'Brien, Duckworth, Barrier, Thinn, Curtis.

Field goals—Cook 7, Beeman 8, Henry 2, Copping 2, Dawson 6, Frost 6.

Foul goals—Cook 2-4, Beeman 0-1, Henry 0-1, Copping 6-8, Dawson 1-5, Frost 8-10.

Barclay Seeking Grid Coach Job At G-W School

Assistant Terp Mentor Interviewed

COLLEGE PARK, Md, March 17. —(AP)—George Barclay, assistant University of Maryland football coach, was reported today to be having an interview with George Washington University officials who are seeking a head football coach.

The Washington school was left without a head mentor when Skip Stahley resigned to go to the University of Washington.

Barclay came to Maryland two years ago with Head Coach Jim Tatum, with whom he played for North Carolina. He previously assisted coaching football at Dartmouth and VMI.

If Barclay gets the George Washington post he would be the second assistant lost by Tatum this year. Walter Briskill resigned earlier this month to become an assistant at the University of Oklahoma.

Gillman Is Appointed Coach At West Point

WEST POINT, N. Y., March 17 (INS) — U. S. Military Academy authorities announced today the appointment of Sid Gillman, head football coach at Miami University (O.), as line coach at West Point.

Gillman succeeds Herman Hickman, who yesterday accepted the head football coaching job at Yale.

Earl Blaik, West Point's head coach said of the appointment:

"We are fortunate, after losing Hickman's services, to get a man of Sid Gillman's calibre. I consider him among the oustanding line coaches in football."

The big news is PONTIAC

A FINE CAR MADE EVEN FINER

GM Hydra-Matic Drive optional* on all models

A Product of General Motors

A greater car... and a greater value!

A year ago today, if you had asked the owner of a new Pontiac what could be done to improve it, he would very likely have told you—"Nothing at all, I like it just as it is."

That's why, for the thousands of people all over the country who have known Pontiac in the past, the 1948 Pontiac is the big news of the year. For here is a fine car made a great deal finer!

There is new beauty—beauty that starts with the re-styled "Silver Streak," and extends from the strikingly handsome grille to the refined exteriors and luxurious interiors of the smart Fisher bodies.

There is new dependability—for the sturdy Pontiac chassis has been improved wherever possible.

And there is unbelievably fine performance—for not only have the great Pontiac engines been refined and improved—but Pontiac now offers, as optional* equipment, the sensational General Motors Hydra-Matic Drive.

With this miraculous mechanism, you just sit back and relax! There is no clutch pedal, and the gears shift themselves. The new Pontiac is now on display in our showrooms. There are fifteen beautiful models—each a great car and a great value.

*GM Hydra-Matic Drive, Bumper Guards and White Sidewall Tires optional at additional cost.

A greater car... and a greater value!

A year ago today, if you had asked the owner of a new Pontiac what could be done to improve it, he would very likely have told you—"Nothing at all, I like it just as it is."

That's why, for the thousands of people all over the country who have known Pontiac in the past, the 1948 Pontiac is the big news of the year. For here is a fine car made a great deal finer!

There is new beauty—beauty that starts with the re-styled "Silver Streak," and extends from the strikingly handsome grille to the refined exteriors and luxurious interiors of the smart Fisher bodies.

There is new dependability—for the sturdy Pontiac chassis has been improved wherever possible.

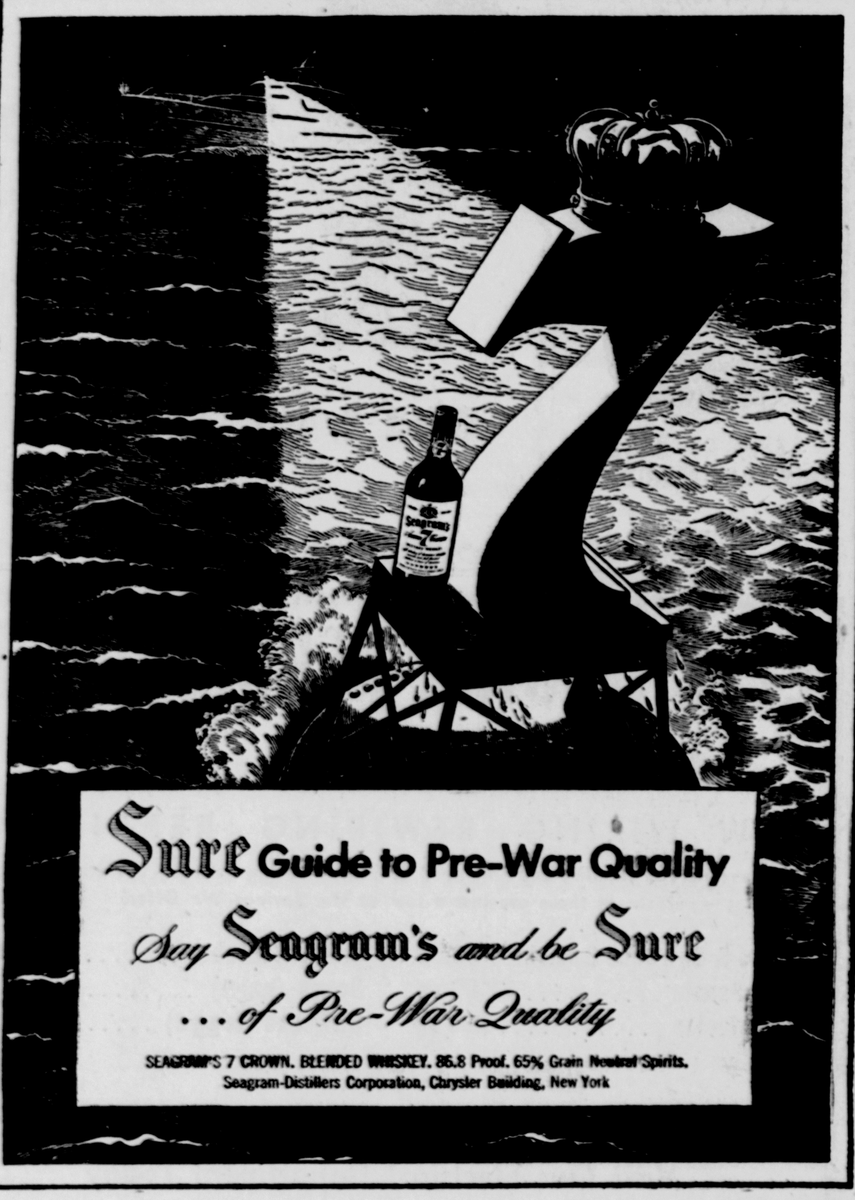

And there is unbelievably fine performance—for not only have the great Pontiac engines been refined and improved—but Pontiac now offers, as optional* equipment, the sensational General Motors Hydra-Matic Drive.

With this miraculous mechanism, you just sit back and relax! There is no clutch pedal, and the gears shift themselves. The new Pontiac is now on display in our showrooms. There are fifteen beautiful models—each a great car and a great value.

Jurist Upholds Keyser Ordinance On Photographers

Judge Calhoun Sees No Restraint On Trade

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER.—Itinerant photographers or photographers soliciting photographs in Keyser must obtain a license from the city offices of Keyser, as is set forth in the City Ordinance, Judge Harlan M. Calhoun, Moorefield, ruled in the case of the City of Keyser against Roger Lacy, itinerant photographer of the Olin Mills Studio, Springfield, Ill.

In making the decision, Judge Calhoun held that the ordinance of the City of Keyser placing a license fee on itinerant photographers did not impose "an invalid or unconstitutional restraint or burden upon interstate commerce; and that the ordinance is not, upon that basis, invalid."

City Attorney James H. Swadley made the above announcement yesterday upon receipt of a letter from Judge Calhoun setting forth his decision with which he enclosed a seven-page opinion of his own views of the case.

The case was appealed to the Mineral County Circuit Court by the plaintiff's attorney, H. G. Shores, when Lacy and five other representatives of the Olin Mills Studio were fined $25 each at a hearing before City Judge A. A. Jordan. They were charged with failing to make application at the city offices for license to solicit.

It was the plaintiff's contention at the hearing before Judge Calhoun on February 19 that the ordinance of March 18, 1941, which provides that solicitors must have proper license, did not apply to Olin Mills representatives inasmuch as they operate under interstate commerce laws.

Judge Ernest A. See of the Mineral County Circuit Court was not qualified to hear the case inasmuch as he prepared the ordinance when he was city attorney for Keyser.

It was indicated yesterday by Attorney Shores that the case will be appealed to the West Virginia Supreme Court.

Will Receive Hearing

Charles Chester Cavanaugh, 20-year old Keyser resident, who was arrested by city police Tuesday night on a charge of being drunk, is in jail awaiting action by Judge Ernest A. See of the Mineral County Circuit Court.

Cavanaugh was sentenced to jail for one year, with the sentence suspended, and placed on probation, when he appeared before Judge See during the January term of Circuit Court.

The Keyser youth was indicted for assault by the grand jury during the January term of Court and entered a plea of guilty.

It was indicated yesterday that Cavanaugh would probably be sentenced to one year in jail.

Also arrested by City Police Tuesday night were John Baker, Burlington; A. B. Smith, Headsville, and L. B. Ravenscraft, Keyser, who were found guilty of the charge of being drunk and were fined $10 each at a hearing before City Judge A. A. Jordan yesterday. Allen P. Neel, Keyser, arrested Sunday night for speeding, was fined $10.

Mrs. Hevner Dies

Mrs. Lucille Gustella Hevner, 25, died at her home, Rt. 1, Keyser, Tuesday night following a short illness.

A daughter of Frederick Pinkney and Carrie Elizabeth Kane Will, she was born in Mineral County where she resided all her life.

Also surviving are her husband, Charles William Hevner, and one daughter, Juanita; one half-brother, Charles Grapes, Limestone, and one half-sister, Mrs. Catherine Metcalf, also of Limestone. A sister, Mrs. Anna Lloyd, died September 28, 1947.

A service will be held at the home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. I. S. Long, pastor of the United Brethren Church, Keyser, officiating. Interment will be in Queen's Point Cemetery.

Jurist Upholds Keyser Ordinance On Photographers

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER.—Itinerant photographers or photographers soliciting photographs in Keyser must obtain a license from the city offices of Keyser, as is set forth in the City Ordinance, Judge Harlan M. Calhoun, Moorefield, ruled in the case of the City of Keyser against Roger Lacy, itinerant photographer of the Olin Mills Studio, Springfield, Ill.

In making the decision, Judge Calhoun held that the ordinance of the City of Keyser placing a license fee on itinerant photographers did not impose "an invalid or unconstitutional restraint or burden upon interstate commerce; and that the ordinance is not, upon that basis, invalid."

City Attorney James H. Swadley made the above announcement yesterday upon receipt of a letter from Judge Calhoun setting forth his decision with which he enclosed a seven-page opinion of his own views of the case.

The case was appealed to the Mineral County Circuit Court by the plaintiff's attorney, H. G. Shores, when Lacy and five other representatives of the Olin Mills Studio were fined $25 each at a hearing before City Judge A. A. Jordan. They were charged with failing to make application at the city offices for license to solicit.

It was the plaintiff's contention at the hearing before Judge Calhoun on February 19 that the ordinance of March 18, 1941, which provides that solicitors must have proper license, did not apply to Olin Mills representatives inasmuch as they operate under interstate commerce laws.

Judge Ernest A. See of the Mineral County Circuit Court was not qualified to hear the case inasmuch as he prepared the ordinance when he was city attorney for Keyser.

It was indicated yesterday by Attorney Shores that the case will be appealed to the West Virginia Supreme Court.

Will Receive Hearing

Charles Chester Cavanaugh, 20-year old Keyser resident, who was arrested by city police Tuesday night on a charge of being drunk, is in jail awaiting action by Judge Ernest A. See of the Mineral County Circuit Court.

Cavanaugh was sentenced to jail for one year, with the sentence suspended, and placed on probation, when he appeared before Judge See during the January term of Circuit Court.

The Keyser youth was indicted for assault by the grand jury during the January term of Court and entered a plea of guilty.

It was indicated yesterday that Cavanaugh would probably be sentenced to one year in jail.

Also arrested by City Police Tuesday night were John Baker, Burlington; A. B. Smith, Headsville, and L. B. Ravenscraft, Keyser, who were found guilty of the charge of being drunk and were fined $10 each at a hearing before City Judge A. A. Jordan yesterday. Allen P. Neel, Keyser, arrested Sunday night for speeding, was fined $10.

Mrs. Hevner Dies

Mrs. Lucille Gustella Hevner, 25, died at her home, Rt. 1, Keyser, Tuesday night following a short illness.

A daughter of Frederick Pinkney and Carrie Elizabeth Kane Will, she was born in Mineral County where she resided all her life.

Also surviving are her husband, Charles William Hevner, and one daughter, Juanita; one half-brother, Charles Grapes, Limestone, and one half-sister, Mrs. Catherine Metcalf, also of Limestone. A sister, Mrs. Anna Lloyd, died September 28, 1947.

A service will be held at the home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. I. S. Long, pastor of the United Brethren Church, Keyser, officiating. Interment will be in Queen's Point Cemetery.

The chief said increased danger exists from Sites Esso station to the Court House district calls for added safe speeds be maintained by those operating motor vehicles in this area.

Chief Leake Warns Against Speeders At Franklin

By MARY ASHENFELTER

FRANKLIN, W. Va.—A warning to speeders was issued this week by Chief of Police Leake, following what he called a very narrow escape from death or serious injury of a child on the bank corner the first of the week. Chief Leake pointed out that the congested area presents many hazards for pedestrians crossing the streets, and called attention to the fact that a school zone in the Court House district cals for added caution on the part of all motorists. The chief said increased danger exists from Sites Esso station to the Court House district calls for added safe speeds be maintained by those operating motor vehicles in this area.

Other town ordinances regulating parking, blocking traffic, and the like, will be placed into effect immediately, Chief Leake said.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 17—(INS)—I know that Mark Hellinger would be glad about the news I have today.

"Criss-Cross," by Donald Tracy, a story prepared for Burt Lancaster, has been bought from the Hellinger estate, complete with the Anthony Veiller script, by Universal-International. And, just as Mark planned, Burt remains in the star spot.

Louella Parsons

I must say the studio couldn't have tempted Burt with a story closer to his heart, for that boy has had offers galore lately. It was all but set for him to make "Down To the Sea In Ships" at 20th when U-I suddenly realized it had first dibs on him, and came up with this deal.

"Criss-cross" gives Los Angeles the same realistic treatment that "Naked City" gives New York. The Los Angeles tale is about a driver of an armored bank car who is double crossed by his girl.

Gene Raymond and Matty Kemp are literally up in the air with plans to produce "The Constellation Story," a history of TWA, for Eagle-Lion.

Even with Gene in Mexico, details of the New Masque Production Company (official title of their organization) are being completed. This is the first of a series to be released through Brynie Foy's Company.

"Constellation Story" is described as a sort of "Grand Hotel" of the air and Gene and Matty will have the co-operation of TWA.

It's nice to have Matty back again. I remember when his romance with Sally Eilers was a hot item for the flapper gossips.

"The Life of Al Smith," being offered for sale by Joseph Sullivan, New York lawyer, includes "Up To Now," Al's own book.

Four times governor of New York, Al Smith, who made the Brown Derby famous, was a colorful figure, a fighter, an old-time Democrat, a bitter enemy and a good friend.

During the Democratic convention in Houston, which I covered, when Al was nominated for the presidency, some of his advisors believed that Mrs. Smith should not talk to the reporters. Al settled that in short order. "If they don't like Katie," he said, "they don't need to like me."

Unfortunately, Merle Oberon's vacation has been marred by the serious accident to her husband, Lucien Ballard, who hurt himself skiing. Lucien's leg was broken and he has other injuries. He must remain in a hospital in Switzerland for four weeks until he is well.

Merle, in St. Moritz with the Henry Fords when the accident happened, had planned to spend Easter week with the Duke and Duchess of Montoro in Spain. While in St. Moritz, Merle saw Norma Shearer and Marty Arrogue.

So deeply moving and beautifully acted and directed is "The Search," which Fred Zinneman made in Zurich for MGM, that it holds you spellbound. Such a picture, showing what happens to displaced persons and the frantic search of children for parents and parents for their little ones, should make us realize our own blessings.

You can't see it without wanting to help these unhappy souls. The most wonderful child actor I have ever seen is Ivan Jandi, a Czech boy who doesn't speak a word of English, his mother is played by Jarmila Novotna, of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Aline McMahon, Wendell Corey, Montgomery Clift, Madame Novotna and the boy are the only professional actors in the picture.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Lana Turner is home again, and returns to the studio on Monday. Her operation has been postponed until after she finishes "Three Musketeers."

Bing and Dixie Crosby go East in April for the opening of the baseball season of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Bing's team.

The Jackie Coogans are expecting their baby any day. She is the former Ann McCormick.

Betty Grable gave Harry James a birthday party at Ciro's. Mitzi Green is attracting a lot of attention there. The same night Shirley Temple and Jane Withers, also former baby stars, went to hear Mitzi—of course, with their husbands.

Harry Joe Brown, Jr., son of Sally Eilers and Harry Joe, Sr., is being confirmed Saturday morning at the Wilshire Temple. He's a wonderful boy.

There may be two other Mitchums in the movies. Bob's brother, Jack, and sister, Julie, are seeking movie careers.

Irene Hervey, Alan Jones and their two children are off for England next Saturday. Alan will do personals.

New Version Of Talent Hunting For Radio Show

NEW YORK, March 17.—Comes now another contribution to the radio version of talent hunting. This one, however, is described as satirical. It will have Jim Backus of Sunday night broadcastering as the M.C.

Thus: as might have been suspected, it will appear on MBS, start Thursday night. The time it gets is 8:30, formerly occupied by the now-dropped Block party. Block party was a plug for the daytime Mart Block disk jockeying.

Title for the new program is "Great Talent Hunt," and its purpose will be to bring before the microphone all of the freak-type acts possible; such as an air-pump musician, a topy piano player and the like.

Child's World, which ABC had to clear out of its Sunday list because of a two-hour rearrangement due next Sunday, gets the new time of 10 on Thursdays for the east and 6:30 for the midwest.

Art Linkletter, whose People are Funny on Friday nights, is involved in a riddle contest, figures he should be able to attract some more listeners through a guest appearance in the Eddie Cantor show on NBC at 10:30. . . . Also guesting on NBC, the Al Jolson at 9 Music hall to be specific, is Edward G. Robinson.

David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Committee is to discuss "The Business Side of the Atom" when NBC relays his Boston talk at 1 p.m.

A Cigarette Named Camel

ADVERTISING on television is still pretty much in the exprimental stage, but already some faintly alarming trends are discernable. Camels, for example, are now using a dramatic film that shows clearly the way the wind is blowing. In this brief drama a soldier fresh back from the wars arrives home, falls into the arms of his waiting wife and kisses her with unrestrained passion. A moment later, gasping for breath, he asks for a cigarette. A stricken, hunted look appears in the girl's eyes.

John Crosby

"I got five brands she falters. "I . . . . . I couldn't get any Camels."

The soldier's lips tighten. Silently he accepts one of the inferior brand of cigarette, takes a single puff and then stares with a revulsion amounting to horror at the terrible thing. The curtain falls.

Anyone with a nodding acquaintance with the legitimate stage can fill in the rest of this pitiful story for himself. The cigarette failure is only the first step toward domestic tragedy. One night a short time later, the ex-G.I. comes home to find not a grain of Dreft in the place anl obviously he can't let this pass. "Don't get left. Get Dreft," he shouts at the cowering girl.

Soon the girl's memory is affected. She can't seem to remember Lifebuoy. She forgets that Anacin is made like a doctor's prescription, that Rinso contains solium, that she won't be his dream girl unless she's a Lustre Cream girl. She forgets everything. Finally the attendants come just as they do every night at "A Streetcar Named Desire" and lead her away, nutty as a fruitcake.

It'll be a great new field for young playwrights, television.

Station WOR in New York has been running an advertisement in the newspapers and trade press which tells in elfin prose the story of the rout of a vice-president named R. C. Maddux by A. L. Alexander, the man who runs a morbid program known as Alexander's Mediation Board on Mutual. Mr. Alexander expressed the desire to read poetry over WOR. The vice-president, a rank in radio roughly equivalent to a second lieutenant in the Army, told Mr. Alexander no one would listen to poetry on the air.

Well—so the story goes—Mr. Alexander went on the air anyhow and read his poetry. (Seems to me Mr. Maddux exercises even less authority ot WOR than a second lieutenant at Eisenhower's headquarters.) The advertisement went in to state that 23,000 messages poured in clamoring for more poetry and, incidentally, advising Mr. Maddux to go soak his head.

Intrigued by this imposing story, I listened to Mr. Alexander's poetry, which is on the air at 7:15 p. m. E. S. T. Thursdays and Fridays. I've listened to it several times. Its my considered opinion Mr. Maddux should have stuck to his guns. In support of that theory, I offer as much of one of Mr. Alexander's poems as I could get down:

"I did pretty well with that trouble
I had,
"The trouble that frightened me so.
"For a while I was tempted to give up the fight.
"But now that's over and it came out all right
"I've reached the conclusion trouble's all right.
"It brings out the stuff in man."

Something seems to be wrong with the fourth or fifth line but that's the general idea. Another poem dwelt on a baby's weight and introduced the thought that the baby's smile and baby's soul didn't register on the scales. Another poem referred to somebody's heart as a closed door and still another was to the effect that pure memories are more than gold when one is old. Mr. Alexander delivers these sentiments in a sibilant half whisper getting so close to the microphone in the process that you can hear him breathing.

After thinking the thing over for several days, I've concluded they didn't read those 23,000 messages very carefully. They couldn't all have disagreed with Mr. Maddux. I feel confident that if they ruffled through them again they'd find one or two that not only sided with Mr. Maddux but urged his elevation to the presidency of WOR.

It'll be a great new field for young playwrights, television.

Station WOR in New York has been running an advertisement in the newspapers and trade press which tells in elfin prose the story of the rout of a vice-president named R. C. Maddux by A. L. Alexander, the man who runs a morbid program known as Alexander's Mediation Board on Mutual. Mr. Alexander expressed the desire to read poetry over WOR. The vice-president, a rank in radio roughly equivalent to a second lieutenant in the Army, told Mr. Alexander no one would listen to poetry on the air.

Well—so the story goes—Mr. Alexander went on the air anyhow and read his poetry. (Seems to me Mr. Maddux exercises even less authority ot WOR than a second lieutenant at Eisenhower's headquarters.) The advertisement went in to state that 23,000 messages poured in clamoring for more poetry and, incidentally, advising Mr. Maddux to go soak his head.

Intrigued by this imposing story, I listened to Mr. Alexander's poetry, which is on the air at 7:15 p. m. E. S. T. Thursdays and Fridays. I've listened to it several times. Its my considered opinion Mr. Maddux should have stuck to his guns. In support of that theory, I offer as much of one of Mr. Alexander's poems as I could get down:

"I did pretty well with that trouble I had,
"The trouble that frightened me so.
"For a while I was tempted to give up the fight.
"But now that's over and it came out all right
"I've reached the conclusion trouble's all right.

Something seems to be wrong with the fourth or fifth line but that's the general idea. Another poem dwelt on a baby's weight and introduced the thought that the baby's smile and baby's soul didn't register on the scales. Another poem referred to somebody's heart as a closed door and still another was to the effect that pure memories are more than gold when one is old. Mr. Alexander delivers these sentiments in a sibilant half whisper getting so close to the microphone in the process that you can hear him breathing.

After thinking the thing over for several days, I've concluded they didn't read those 23,000 messages very carefully. They couldn't all have disagreed with Mr. Maddux. I feel confident that if they ruffled through them again they'd find one or two that not only sided with Mr. Maddux but urged his elevation to the presidency of WOR.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Paul A. Smith and Rita M. Smith, his wife, vs. Edith F. Trout and Harry Elmer Trout, her husband, No. 20570 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of adoption of the infant, Elmer David Trout, who was born unto the marriage of the Defendants.

The bill states that the Defendants were married March 25, 1929; that Harry Elmer Trout deserted Edith F. It is thereupon this 16th day of March, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in equity, ordered that the Petitioners, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks, before the 17th day of April, 1948, giving notice to the said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this bill and warning him to appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of May, 1948, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Loughrie To Be Transferred To Baltimore Soon

Deputy Marshal's Office To Close

Deputy United States Marshal Howard P. Loughrie will be transferred to Baltimore, effective next Monday, and his office in the Postoffice Building will be closed, the Justice Department announced yesterday in Washington.

A spokesman said the change was being made "because there is more business in Baltimore." He said that was the "whole story" on the change.

As far as could be learned last night, the closing of Loughrie's office here will not immediately affect the office of the clerk of Federal Court.

Announcement last June that the latter office would be closed brought numerous protests from the Allegany County Bar Association because of the records and fine library maintained there. Provision was made later in the Judiciary Appropriations Bill to retain the office.

Last December, following reports that the marshal's office would close, Rep. J. Glenn Beall contacted the office of Attorney General Clark to protest the move, stating it would not be economical to leave Western Maryland without a deputy marshal's office.

Establishment of the office in March, 1892, was provided in an act to set up terms of U. S. Circuit and District Courts at Cumberland. Prior to the construction of the Cumberland Postoffice in 1932, the marshal's office was located in the old postoffice and federal building in what is now the Public Safety Building.

Loughrie has served as deputy marshal here since August, 1933, covering the four Western Maryland counties of Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett.

He will handle federal cases in the same territory but will work out of the district marshal's office in Baltimore, according to Justice Department officials. The local office will be used to conduct hearings of cases in this area.

During his service here, Loughrie handled between 1,200 and 1,500 criminal cases, and about 500 civil cases.

A veteran of the First World War, Loughrie was in the insurance and grocery business prior to entering federal service. He resides with his wife and two children at 301 Baltimore Avenue.

His daughter, Bonnie Blue, and a son, Wesley D. Loughrie, are students at Frostburg State Teachers' College. Another son, David Howard Loughrie, is a senior law student at the University of Maryland. The latter, an Air Force pilot during World War II, was a prisoner of the Germans for a year. Wesley served with an anti-aircraft outfit during the war.

TO BE TRANSFERRED-- Deputy United States Marshal Howard P. Loughrie (above) will be transferred Monday to Baltimore, and the deputy marshal's office in the Cumberland Postoffice Building will be closed, according to Justice Department officials. Loughrie has served at the local office since August, 1933. He is shown above starting to clean out his desk.

Twenty-Two County Hi-Y Members To Attend College Park Session

Anderson Nominated For "Governor"

Twenty-two members of county Hi-Y organizations will leave Saturday morning by chartered bus for College Park, where they will attend a pre-legislative conference with similar groups from other sections of the state in preparation for the "model legislature" to be held in Annapolis April 22-24.

The local group, representing Hi-Y clubs of Allegany and Fort Hill High Schools, Bruce High in Westernport, and Central YMCA Rec Club, will be accompanied by Winfield H. Alam, program and boys' secretary of the "Y."

Bruce Anderson, 20-year-old Navy veteran who is a senior at Allegany, is one of the five high school youths in the state who have been nominated for the office of "governor" at the model legislature.

Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson, 822 Greene Street, has been active in football and track as well as in the Allegany Glee Club. He is vice president and program chairman of the Allegany Hi-Y.

Other county nominations for "state officers" to preside at the model session are Wayne Boal for president of the Senate; R. Glenn Shaffer, speaker of the House of Delegates; and Allan Macy, clerk of the Senate.

Boal, 18, is president of Bruce Hi-Y; Shaffer, 17, is vice president of that organization, and Macy, 17, is a member of the Allegany Hi-Y.

In his statement as a candidate for "governor," Anderson advocated a state-sponsored recreational program, strict regulation of sales of alcoholic beverages to minors, equal education and economic opportunities, protection of natural resources and an expanded public health program.

Officers for the model session will be elected at the College Park session Saturday.

County youths who will be "senators" are Allan Macy, Braddock Road, and Charles Piper, Jr., 105 Luteman Road, both of Allegany; Wayne Boal, Keyser, W. Va., and Elwood Gift, Westernport, of Bruce; and Eugene Mason, 218 Maryland Avenue, and Don Sensabaugh, 708 Brookfield Avenue, both of Fort Hill.

"Delegates" will be Anderson, Charles Bucy, 301 Helen Street; Chester Dawson, Rawlings, John Hinkle, 715 Lincoln Street, and William Price, 306 South Allegany Street, all of Allegany.

Donald Clise, Ralph Dayton, Dewey Engle, William Metz and Glenn Shaeffer, Westernport, all of Bruce; Floyd Ryan, Route 3, city; Ralph Thuss, Jr., 511 Williams Street; Glen Wertz, 1727 Bedford Street; Douglas Heavner, Jr., Route 3, city; and John Light, 33 Virginia Avenue, of Fort Hill; and Bill Bailey, 775 Fayette Street, representing the Rec Club.

Local 1874 Against Idle Pay Proposal

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, at its membership meeting last night voted to oppose Governor Lane's proposal for a reduction in employer contribution to the State Unemployment Fund.

The Celanese local also requested its officers to submit a positive program to Governor Lane calling for increased minimum and maximum benefits and the establishment of more lenient rules of eligibility for unemployment compensation.

Playford Aldridge, president, was authorized to inform Governor Lane, the Maryland Legislative Council and State Senator Robert B. Kimble of the action opposing the reductions in employer contributions.

The members also voted to maintain the present daily expense basis of allowances for members attending conventions and on other union business.

Local 1874 rejected a proposal for organizational participation in the co-operative movement here and suggested that membership in the co-op be on an individual basis.

A $150 contribution to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children was voted last night by Local 1874 which urged that all members give all possible aid in the drive, Aldridge said.

More Than Half Of Areas Mines Join Idle List

Miners Continue Protest Stoppage

Officials estimated last night that more than half the deep mines in Allegany and Garrett county soft coal fields were idle yesterday as "pension paralysis" continued to creep through the area. A few strip mines are down, but most strip operations appear to be operating, it is claimed.

Railroad authorities said mines along the Western Maryland lines between here and Elkins, W. Va., are generally idle, and a few more operations in the Georges Creek Region did not work yesterday.

Mine officials express the opinion that by the first of the week, unless there are developments to cause a change, practically every mine in Maryland and nearby West Virginia will be idle, as men follow the walkout policy started when John L. Lewis, their president, declared their contract had been "dishonored" by coal operators.

The stoppage was barely felt here Monday, but Tuesday more miners stayed away from the pits. Yesterday more operations joined the idle list. Consolidated Fuel Company Mines Nos. 4 and 10 at Eckhart operated with some absenteeism. At nearby Lonaconing, mines of the Georges Creek Coal Company failed to work yesterday.

Five operations of the McNitt Coal Company have also joined the shut down. They include No. 2 at Midlothian, No. 3 at Shaft, Swanton Mine at Barton, and the Hamill mine at Kitzmiller.

Mines in the two Maryland counties produce around 5,000 tons daily.

Railroad officials said the work stoppage has eased the car shortage and will give the railroads a chance to get most of their coal unloaded and there will be plenty of cars for awhile, when the men return to work.

Inquest Throws Little Light On Mystery Baby

An inquest was held in Keyser, W. Va., yesterday in the death of an unidentified infant, found last week on a trash dump near Antioch, W. Va., by a pet dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coffman.

The coroner's jury comprised of six men met at the office of Miss Madelyn Bazzle, who acted as coroner. The following verdict was rendered:

"An infant child, name and sex unknown, came to its death at the hands of a person or persons unknown, with the cause of death unknown, but known to have been born alive."

Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin outlined the details of the gruesome discovery, examination by Dr. Harry Coffman, Mineral County health officer, laboratory reports and the investigation which followed the finding of the body.

When discovered, the dog had carried the partial body from the trash heap to Coffman's yard.

Rankin said a piece of cloth from a salt or sugar sack, which appeared to have been wrapped about the baby's body, was found on the trash heap.

Authorities believe the child was about two days old, and are working on the theory it was born alive, killed and left on the trash pile, or probably born near the trash pile, wrapped in the cloth, and left there to die.

No other developments are reported.

Local Group To Attend Hagerstown Meeting

An Allegany Trades Council delegation will drive to Hagerstown tonight to attend a meeting of the Hagerstown Central Labor Union where plans will be made to integrate political activities of the groups.

The delegation from here is expected to include C. E. Stutzman, president of the council; J. T. Deflbaugh, secretary, and C. E. Bramble, president, of Local 453, Teamsters Union.

Central Labor Union delegates attended a Trades Council meeting here February 24 and proposed that the groups co-operate in the political work of the AFL in this area.

Police have been asked to aid in the search for Raymond Monoz, 15, who was reported missing from his home here Tuesday. The lad is five feet, four inches tall, weighs 120 pounds, has brown eyes and black hair and was wearing dark trousers and a checkered coat. He speaks English brokenly, police were told.

Election Returns Will Be Checked By Board Today

Official Canvass Will Start At Noon

The official canvass of the city's general election will be made this afternoon by the County Board of Election Supervisors, constituting a Board of Canvassers, according to Patrick F. King, clerk of the Board.

Under Maryland election laws, the Supervisors of Elections are required to meet as a board of canvassers on the Thursday immediately following the election, between the hours of 12 noon and 1 p. m.

Each member of the Poard takes an oath before the Clerk of Court to truly canvass, add up and declare the votes, according to law.

All sessions of the canvassers must be public and open to candidates or their representatives or counsel who shall have the right, if they wish, to inspect the original statements and returns, and all other documents and records.

After the canvass has been completed the Board of Canvassers is required to submit the results to the Clerk of Court who shall enter the results in permanent records. Public announcement through the press is also required under the law.

The Board of Canvassers, election officials explain, do not count ballots, but merely check tally sheets and returns, making certain there have been no errors and that all forms have been prepared according to law by election clerks and judges from each precinct or polling place.

Succesful candidates may, upon application to the Clerk of Court, receive a certificate showing total number of votes and the office to which elected.

Scout Leaders Plan Activities For Coming Year

Training courses, a practice camporee and preliminary plans for the 1949 observance of Boy Scout Week were discussed at a meeting of 40 leaders and committeemen of Cumberland District, Potomac Council, Tuesday night at St. Mary's parish hall, according to Kenneth E. Jackson, council executive.

Victor D. Heisey, chairman of the committee making plans for next February's observance of Boy Scout Week, suggested that the district hold a father-son banquet instead of individual troop events during that week, as has been customary.

The program would consist of Scouting demonstrations. Jackson said plans will be made for the banquet provided a meeting place can be found to accommodate the estimated 1,000 guests.

Cub Goal Reached

Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and chairman of the organization extension committee, reported the district has already reached its 1948 goal for Cub packs with the institution of two such groups, one at Pennsylvania Avenue and the other in Potomac Park.

Two troops are also being organized to meet this year's quota, he added.

George Sellers, chairman of leadership training, said a 12-hour advanced course in scoutmastership will begin Tuesday, April 6. The course will be held either in a series of two-hour night sessions or completed in one weekend at the Scout camp at Oldtown.

On May 8 a troop camping standards course will be held at the Scout camp for scoutmasters, their assistants and troop committeemen, in preparation for an overnight practice camporee to be held for district troops May 22-23, probably at Constitution Park.

W. Donald Smith, activities chairman, explained the camporee will prepare the boys for the Potomac Council camporee to be held in June, when Scouts will be tested on their camping standards by troop committeemen.

Another course in the leadership training program will be presented by H. Lee Silcox, health and safety chairman for Cumberland district, at a date to be announnced later.

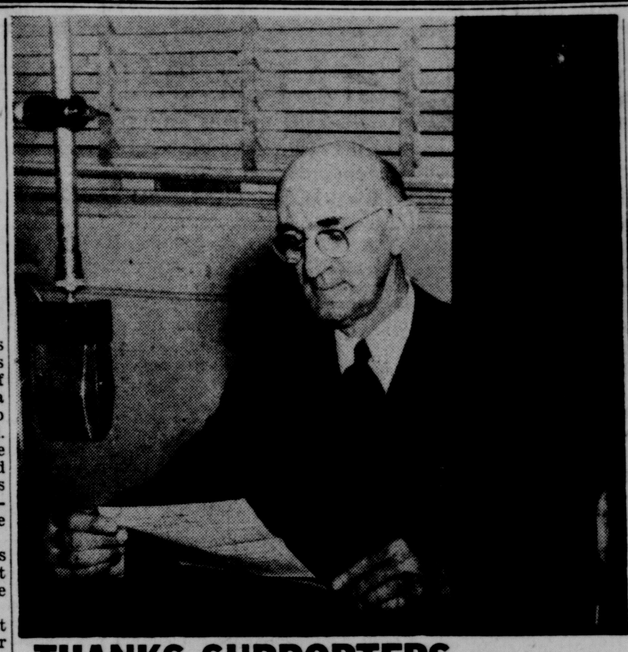

Rally Is Suggested

Smith said plans have also been suggested for a father-and-son rally at the Scout camp in the early fall.

Francis T. Bell, chairman of the board of review, said experts in various phases of scouting may be secured to hold instruction courses at the Scout camp each Saturday throughout the camping season to assist scoutmasters in training boys in those activities.

South Cumberland troops have invited other troops in the Cumberland district to go on an all-day outing to the Oldtown camp Saturday, March 27. Various contests will be held, and prizes will be awarded.

Jackson added that a Cub Pow Wow to demonstrate cubbing activities is tentatively scheduled for the latter part of May.

THANKS SUPPORTERS-- Mayor Thomas S. Post, elected for a third term on his 65th birthday, is seen here as he broadcast his "thank you" statement early yesterday morning when final tabulations gave him a narrow victory over Roy W. Eves, his opponent in Tuesday's general election. Mayor Post, who has lived in Cumberland most of his life-time, and is in business here, is a native of Uniontown, Pa., born March 16, 1883. He said last night he believes the council-elect is a good one.

Barter Theatre Players To Spend Entire Weekend In Cumberland

Present Hasty Heart Here Saturday Night

Barter Theatre Players, who will present "The Hasty Heart" Saturday night at Allegany High School auditorium under the sponsorship of the Junior Association of Commerce, will be guests in the city over the week-end, according to Jack Moore, chairman of the Jaycee committee in charge.

Moore said he received a letter from the Barter Theatre office in Front Royal informing him that Barter Players like Cumberland and Cumberland hospitality, and the troupe plans to spend the weekend here sightseeing and visiting local spots of interest.

The company will arrive early Saturday morning and will begin arranging their set at the auditorium at 3 p. m. The play will be presented at 8:15 p. m. after which the set will be struck and stored on their truck-trailer. Then the cast wants to spend Sunday seeing points of interest, planning to continue their tour Monday.

While on tour of this area, the cast usually returns to Front Royal over weekends or between engagements, but requested that reservations be made so they can spend the weekend in Cumberland.

"The Hasty Heart," a wartime play, has a cast including eight men and one woman. The company includes technical and stage help, production manager and other staff members, totaling about 15 persons. A Broadway production, the show, Moore says, is one of the best in the Barter repertoire and advance sale of tickets indicates this will be the best house the Barter Players have seen in Cumberland.

At two previous performances, audiences were small, and little interest had been shown in what local critics term "the best entertainment of its kind to come here."

Barter Theatre Players and their history since organization in 1933 is given considerable publicity in factual acounts in current issues of The Readers Digest and American Mercury.

Curtain time Saturday is 8:15 p. m. and reserved seat tickets are available at S. T. Little's Jewelry Store and The Music Shop.

Daylight Saving Begins In April

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday so far as he knows the ordinance passed last year to establish daylight saving time in Cumberland will be continued this year.

The mayor said no opposition has been expressed to the ordinance, which created a period of daylight saving time last year from April 27 until September 28, "and continuing each year thereafter."

No specific dates are provided in the ordinance with the exception of those for 1947, but Mayor Post said he presumes daylight saving time will begin this year about the same date.

Lions To Begin Eyeglass Frame Drive April 1

Plans were announced yesterday by Chester Fisher, president of the Cumberland Lions Club, that a campaign will begin April 1 to collect old eyeglass frames for salvage, the proceeds to go into the club's sight conservation fund.

Containers will be distributed throughout the city, and a house to house canvass is planned. Fisher said a concerted two-week drive is proposed.

Francis M. Andrews, superintendent of the Maryland School for the Blind at Overlea, near Baltimore, was the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the club at Central YMCA yesterday.

Andrews reported that about $300 of the $1,000 which the club set aside several months ago for the 11 county students now attending the school has been spent.

One of those students, Hugh Arnold, 18, a Lonaconing youth who has attended the school for the past 12 years, was a guest at the meeting.

Young Arnold, who is captain of the school's wrestling team and a member of the track team, placed third in wrestling in the 145-pound class at the Maryland Scholastic Association meet in Baltimore earlier this month. He won the championship in the 138-pound class in a tournament at Staunton, Va., in February for contestants from schools for the blind.

Andrews, who was introduced by George Sellers, chairman of the club's sight conservation committee, explained the school is a private institution which is state-aided. Pupils range in age from 6 to 18, and follow the same courses of study as in Baltimore schools. Eleventh and 12th grade students attend high schools.

Andrews explained parents of the students pay nothing for sending them ti the school, adding that state and county aid accounts for about $900 of the $1,000 to $1,200 per capita annual cost. The demainder is obtained through income from a small endowment fund, and donations such as that made by the local club.

He added that three groups of teachers are required for the white blind, the colored blind and the colored deaf students.

Mayor Post Plans To Call Caucus Of New Council

Sees Chance For Harmony, Progress

Mayor Thomas S. Post, re-elected Tuesday for a third term, said last night that as soon as official returns have been announced he plans to contact each member of the council in an effort to get them to attend a caucus for the purpose of discussing appointments and policy.

The Mayor declared, "From all indications, it appears now the city has a good council-elect, and one that has a better than average chance to work in harmony for the general public good. I believe these men can work together. I sincerely hope so," he added, "because our town needs to make some progress so very badly. I am indeed greatly encouraged."

In political circles yesterday, there was much discussion over the results of the election. Observers seemed in general agreement, however, that Mayor Post may find himself in a better position than he has been during his previous two terms. Mayor Post has frequently complained that he has been outvoted three to two on many issues, and observers seem to believe that the new council might give the Mayor the chance he has sought to get his program and policies carried out.

The new council, according to unofficial returns, includes William H. Buchholtz, Edgar Reynolds, William V. Keegan and William J. Edwards. Together with Mayor Post, the council will take office and organize Monday, April 5.

In Better Position

The way observers see the situation, the absence of publicly drawn slates in the election may have strengthened Mayor Post's position considerably.

Buchholtz entered the primary and general election independent of either political organization known to be backing Post and his opponent, Roy W. Eves. Buchholtz still declares he is an independent, but is aware of support given him by the Post organization.

Reynolds also reputedly rejected offers to be "slated" and told people close to him, "I am trying to get back in council as an independent." During his 10 years in office, up to four years ago, Reynolds had a record of being co-operative and his voting record shows him to have been generally independent of outside influence, some observers recall.

With the record showing Keegan and Edwards voting together much of the time, and with the possibility that the two new councilmen may not have political alliance or obligation, it appeared that there is an outside chance Mayor Post can have what he terms "more harmony," and will not always be "out-voted three to two."

Two Major Appointments

The two major appointments to be made, that of city solicitor, now held by Thomas B. Finan, and that of tax collector, now held by Charles F. Burke, Jr., are the two choice political plums. It was indicated yesterday, some of the council members favor holding an early caucus, to decide on these appointments.

While there was no official indication, it was generally assumed Keegan will remain police and fire commissioner, and Edwards will retain his post as commissioner of water and lights.

During his campaign, Buchholtz made it generally known that he was interested in being finance commissioner since his business experience is along that line, and Reynolds who was formerly commissioner of streets and public property for 10 years is regarded as a natural for that position.

An 18 cent increase, union shop, increased night differential and improved vacations are being asked by the union.

Ridgeley High Tri-Hi-Y Will Aid In Silver Anniversary Fund Drive

The Ridgeley High School Tri-Hi-Y Club will participate in the Silver Anniversary fund drive being conducted by Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs in West Virginia.

The quota for the Ridgeley club's part of the $25,000 fund campaign has been set as $150.

The club's officers are president, Mildred Ott; vice president, Margie Bean; secretary, Anna Grace Phillips; treasurer, Rose Mellon; club advisor, Miss Inez Ansel. Membership in the Ridgeley Tri-Hi-Y is 25.

Hi-Y Clubs for boys and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs for girls are nation-wide organizations promoted and supervised by the Y. M. C. A. Since most communities and towns of West Virginia do not have local Y. M. C. A.'s, the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs in those communities are supervised by the State Y. M. C. A. Extension Committee.

Funds are being sought for an additional traveling secretary to visit and work with high school groups. It is planned that this secretary will establish his office in the northern part of the state and would work primarily in that area. Thus, the present Charleston office would work primarily with high schools in Southern West Virginia.

Improvement of equipment and facilities at Camp Horseshoe, state Y. M. C. A. camp in the Monongahela National Park Forest, Parsons, W. Va., and modernization of program equipment of the present State Y. M. C. A. office and provision for its current budget are also included in the plan.

Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs function as extra-curricular activities in the high school to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character.

Loughrie To Be Transferred To Baltimore Soon

Deputy Marshal's Office To Close

Deputy United States Marshal Howard P. Loughrie will be transferred to Baltimore, effective next Monday, and his office in the Postoffice Building will be closed, the Justice Department announced yesterday in Washington.

A spokesman said the change was being made "because there is more business in Baltimore." He said that was the "whole story" on the change.

As far as could be learned last night, the closing of Loughrie's office here will not immediately affect the office of the clerk of Federal Court.

Announcement last June that the latter office would be closed brought numerous protests from the Allegany County Bar Association because of the records and fine library maintained there. Provision was made later in the Judiciary Appropriations Bill to retain the office.

Last December, following reports that the marshal's office would close, Rep. J. Glenn Beall contacted the office of Attorney General Clark to protest the move, stating it would not be economical to leave Western Maryland without a deputy marshal's office.

Establishment of the office in March, 1892, was provided in an act to set up terms of U. S. Circuit and District Courts at Cumberland. Prior to the construction of the Cumberland Postoffice in 1932, the marshal's office was located in the old postoffice and federal building in what is now the Public Safety Building.

Loughrie has served as deputy marshal here since August, 1933, covering the four Western Maryland counties of Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett.

He will handle federal cases in the same territory but will work out of the district marshal's office in Baltimore, according to Justice Department officials. The local office will be used to conduct hearings of cases in this area.

During his service here, Loughrie handled between 1,200 and 1,500 criminal cases, and about 500 civil cases.

A veteran of the First World War, Loughrie was in the insurance and grocery business prior to entering federal service. He resides with his wife and two children at 301 Baltimore Avenue.

His daughter, Bonnie Blue, and a son, Wesley D. Loughrie, are students at Frostburg State Teachers' College. Another son, David Howard Loughrie, is a senior law student at the University of Maryland. The latter, an Air Force pilot during World War II, was a prisoner of the Germans for a year. Wesley served with an anti-aircraft outfit during the war.

TO BE TRANSFERRED-- Deputy United States Marshal Howard P. Loughrie (above) will be transferred Monday to Baltimore, and the deputy marshal's office in the Cumberland Postoffice Building will be closed, according to Justice Department officials. Loughrie has served at the local office since August, 1933. He is shown above starting to clean out his desk.

Twenty-Two County Hi-Y Members To Attend College Park Session

Anderson Nominated For "Governor"

Twenty-two members of county Hi-Y organizations will leave Saturday morning by chartered bus for College Park, where they will attend a pre-legislative conference with similar groups from other sections of the state in preparation for the "model legislature" to be held in Annapolis April 22-24.

The local group, representing Hi-Y clubs of Allegany and Fort Hill High Schools, Bruce High in Westernport, and Central YMCA Rec Club, will be accompanied by Winfield H. Alam, program and boys' secretary of the "Y."

Bruce Anderson, 20-year-old Navy veteran who is a senior at Allegany, is one of the five high school youths in the state who have been nominated for the office of "governor" at the model legislature.

Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson, 822 Greene Street, has been active in football and track as well as in the Allegany Glee Club. He is vice president and program chairman of the Allegany Hi-Y.

Other county nominations for "state officers" to preside at the model session are Wayne Boal for president of the Senate; R. Glenn Shaffer, speaker of the House of Delegates; and Allan Macy, clerk of the Senate.

Boal, 18, is president of Bruce Hi-Y; Shaffer, 17, is vice president of that organization, and Macy, 17, is a member of the Allegany Hi-Y.

In his statement as a candidate for "governor," Anderson advocated a state-sponsored recreational program, strict regulation of sales of alcoholic beverages to minors, equal education and economic opportunities, protection of natural resources and an expanded public health program.

Officers for the model session will be elected at the College Park session Saturday.

County youths who will be "senators" are Allan Macy, Braddock Road, and Charles Piper, Jr., 105 Luteman Road, both of Allegany; Wayne Boal, Keyser, W. Va., and Elwood Gift, Westernport, of Bruce; and Eugene Mason, 218 Maryland Avenue, and Don Sensabaugh, 708 Brookfield Avenue, both of Fort Hill.

"Delegates" will be Anderson, Charles Bucy, 301 Helen Street; Chester Dawson, Rawlings, John Hinkle, 715 Lincoln Street, and William Price, 306 South Allegany Street, all of Allegany.

Local 1874 Against Idle Pay Proposal

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, at its membership meeting last night voted to oppose Governor Lane's proposal for a reduction in employer contribution to the State Unemployment Fund.

The Celanese local also requested its officers to submit a positive program to Governor Lane calling for increased minimum and maximum benefits and the establishment of more lenient rules of eligibility for unemployment compensation.

Playford Aldridge, president, was authorized to inform Governor Lane, the Maryland Legislative Council and State Senator Robert B. Kimble of the action opposing the reductions in employer contributions.

The members also voted to maintain the present daily expense basis of allowances for members attending conventions and on other union business.

Local 1874 rejected a proposal for organizational participation in the co-operative movement here and suggested that membership in the co-op be on an individual basis.

A $150 contribution to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children was voted last night by Local 1874 which urged that all members give all possible aid in the drive, Aldridge said.

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce office in the Liberty Trust Building.

More Than Half Of Areas Mines Join Idle List

Miners Continue Protest Stoppage

Officials estimated last night that more than half the deep mines in Allegany and Garrett county soft coal fields were idle yesterday as "pension paralysis" continued to creep through the area. A few strip mines are down, but most strip operations appear to be operating, it is claimed.

Railroad authorities said mines along the Western Maryland lines between here and Elkins, W. Va., are generally idle, and a few more operations in the Georges Creek Region did not work yesterday.

Mine officials express the opinion that by the first of the week, unless there are developments to cause a change, practically every mine in Maryland and nearby West Virginia will be idle, as men follow the walkout policy started when John L. Lewis, their president, declared their contract had been "dishonored" by coal operators.

The stoppage was barely felt here Monday, but Tuesday more miners stayed away from the pits. Yesterday more operations joined the idle list. Consolidated Fuel Company Mines Nos. 4 and 10 at Eckhart operated with some absenteeism. At nearby Lonaconing, mines of the Georges Creek Coal Company failed to work yesterday.

Five operations of the McNitt Coal Company have also joined the shut down. They include No. 2 at Midlothian, No. 3 at Shaft, Swanton Mine at Barton, and the Hamill mine at Kitzmiller.

Mines in the two Maryland counties produce around 5,000 tons daily.

Railroad officials said the work stoppage has eased the car shortage and will give the railroads a chance to get most of their coal unloaded and there will be plenty of cars for awhile, when the men return to work.

Inquest Throws Little Light On Mystery Baby

An inquest was held in Keyser, W. Va., yesterday in the death of an unidentified infant, found last week on a trash dump near Antioch, W. Va., by a pet dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coffman.

The coroner's jury comprised of six men met at the office of Miss Madelyn Bazzle, who acted as coroner. The following verdict was rendered:

"An infant child, name and sex unknown, came to its death at the hands of a person or persons unknown, with the cause of death unknown, but known to have been born alive."

Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin outlined the details of the gruesome discovery, examination by Dr. Harry Coffman, Mineral County health officer, laboratory reports and the investigation which followed the finding of the body.

When discovered, the dog had carried the partial body from the trash heap to Coffman's yard.

Rankin said a piece of cloth from a salt or sugar sack, which appeared to have been wrapped about the baby's body, was found on the trash heap.

Authorities believe the child was about two days old, and are working on the theory it was born alive, killed and left on the trash pile, or probably born near the trash pile, wrapped in the cloth, and left there to die.

No other developments are reported.

Local Group To Attend Hagerstown Meeting

An Allegany Trades Council delegation will drive to Hagerstown tonight to attend a meeting of the Hagerstown Central Labor Union where plans will be made to integrate political activities of the groups.

Central Labor Union delegates attended a Trades Council meeting here February 24 and proposed that the groups co-operate in the political work of the AFL in this area.

Election Returns Will Be Checked By Board Today

Official Canvass Will Start At Noon

The official canvass of the city's general election will be made this afternoon by the County Board of Election Supervisors, constituting a Board of Canvassers, according to Patrick F. King, clerk of the Board.

Under Maryland election laws, the Supervisors of Elections are required to meet as a board of canvassers on the Thursday immediately following the election, between the hours of 12 noon and 1 p. m.

Each member of the Poard takes an oath before the Clerk of Court to truly canvass, add up and declare the votes, according to law.

All sessions of the canvassers must be public and open to candidates or their representatives or counsel who shall have the right, if they wish, to inspect the original statements and returns, and all other documents and records.

After the canvass has been completed the Board of Canvassers is required to submit the results to the Clerk of Court who shall enter the results in permanent records. Public announcement through the press is also required under the law.

The Board of Canvassers, election officials explain, do not count ballots, but merely check tally sheets and returns, making certain there have been no errors and that all forms have been prepared according to law by election clerks and judges from each precinct or polling place.

Succesful candidates may, upon application to the Clerk of Court, receive a certificate showing total number of votes and the office to which elected.

Scout Leaders Plan Activities For Coming Year

Training courses, a practice camporee and preliminary plans for the 1949 observance of Boy Scout Week were discussed at a meeting of 40 leaders and committeemen of Cumberland District, Potomac Council, Tuesday night at St. Mary's parish hall, according to Kenneth E. Jackson, council executive.

Victor D. Heisey, chairman of the committee making plans for next February's observance of Boy Scout Week, suggested that the district hold a father-son banquet instead of individual troop events during that week, as has been customary.

The program would consist of Scouting demonstrations. Jackson said plans will be made for the banquet provided a meeting place can be found to accommodate the estimated 1,000 guests.

Cub Goal Reached

Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and chairman of the organization extension committee, reported the district has already reached its 1948 goal for Cub packs with the institution of two such groups, one at Pennsylvania Avenue and the other in Potomac Park.

Two troops are also being organized to meet this year's quota, he added.

George Sellers, chairman of leadership training, said a 12-hour advanced course in scoutmastership will begin Tuesday, April 6. The course will be held either in a series of two-hour night sessions or completed in one weekend at the Scout camp at Oldtown.

On May 8 a troop camping standards course will be held at the Scout camp for scoutmasters, their assistants and troop committeemen, in preparation for an overnight practice camporee to be held for district troops May 22-23, probably at Constitution Park.

W. Donald Smith, activities chairman, explained the camporee will prepare the boys for the Potomac Council camporee to be held in June, when Scouts will be tested on their camping standards by troop committeemen.

Another course in the leadership training program will be presented by H. Lee Silcox, health and safety chairman for Cumberland district, at a date to be announced later.

Rally Is Suggested

Smith said plans have also been suggested for a father-and-son rally at the Scout camp in the early fall.

Francis T. Bell, chairman of the board of review, said experts in various phases of scouting may be secured to hold instruction courses at the Scout camp each Saturday throughout the camping season to assist scoutmasters in training boys in those activities.

South Cumberland troops have invited other troops in the Cumberland district to go on an all-day outing to the Oldtown camp Saturday, March 27. Various contests will be held, and prizes will be awarded.

Jackson added that a Cub Pow Wow to demonstrate cubbing activities is tentatively scheduled for the latter part of May.

Ridgeley High Tri-Hi-Y Will Aid In Silver Anniversary Fund Drive

The Ridgeley High School Tri-Hi-Y Club will participate in the Silver Anniversary fund drive being conducted by Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs in West Virginia.

The quota for the Ridgeley club's part of the $25,000 fund campaign has been set as $150.

The club's officers are president, Mildred Ott; vice president, Margie Bean; secretary, Anna Grace Phillips; treasurer, Rose Mellon; club advisor, Miss Inez Ansel. Membership in the Ridgeley Tri-Hi-Y is 25.

Hi-Y Clubs for boys and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs for girls are nation-wide organizations promoted and supervised by the Y. M. C. A. Since most communities and towns of West Virginia do not have local Y. M. C. A.'s, the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs in those communities are supervised by the State Y. M. C. A. Extension Committee.

Funds are being sought for an additional traveling secretary to visit and work with high school groups. It is planned that this secretary will establish his office in the northern part of the state and would work primarily in that area. Thus, the present Charleston office would work primarily with high schools in Southern West Virginia.

Improvement of equipment and facilities at Camp Horseshoe, state Y. M. C. A. camp in the Monongahela National Park Forest, Parsons, W. Va., and modernization of program equipment of the present State Y. M. C. A. office and provision for its current budget are also included in the plan.

Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs function as extra-curricular activities in the high school to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character.

THANKS SUPPORTERS-- Mayor Thomas S. Post, elected for a third term on his 65th birthday, is seen here as he broadcast his "thank you" statement early yesterday morning when final tabulations gave him a narrow victory over Roy W. Eves, his opponent in Tuesday's general election. Mayor Post, who has lived in Cumberland most of his life-time, and is in business here, is a native of Uniontown, Pa., born March 16, 1883. He said last night he believes the council-elect is a good one.

Barter Theatre Players To Spend Entire Weekend In Cumberland

Present Hasty Heart Here Saturday Night

Barter Theatre Players, who will present "The Hasty Heart" Saturday night at Allegany High School auditorium under the sponsorship of the Junior Association of Commerce, will be guests in the city over the week-end, according to Jack Moore, chairman of the Jaycee committee in charge.

Moore said he received a letter from the Barter Theatre office in Front Royal informing him that Barter Players like Cumberland and Cumberland hospitality, and the troupe plans to spend the weekend here sightseeing and visiting local spots of interest.

The company will arrive early Saturday morning and will begin arranging their set at the auditorium at 3 p. m. The play will be presented at 8:15 p. m. after which the set will be struck and stored on their truck-trailer. Then the cast wants to spend Sunday seeing points of interest, planning to continue their tour Monday.

While on tour of this area, the cast usually returns to Front Royal over weekends or between engagements, but requested that reservations be made so they can spend the weekend in Cumberland.

"The Hasty Heart," a wartime play, has a cast including eight men and one woman. The company includes technical and stage help, production manager and other staff members, totaling about 15 persons. A Broadway production, the show, Moore says, is one of the best in the Barter repertoire and advance sale of tickets indicates this will be the best house the Barter Players have seen in Cumberland.

At two previous performances, audiences were small, and little interest had been shown in what local critics term "the best entertainment of its kind to come here."

Barter Theatre Players and their history since organization in 1933 is given considerable publicity in factual acounts in current issues of The Readers Digest and American Mercury.

No specific dates are provided in the ordinance with the exception of those for 1947, but Mayor Post said he presumes daylight saving time will begin this year about the same date.

Plans were announced yesterday by Chester Fisher, president of the Cumberland Lions Club, that a campaign will begin April 1 to collect old eyeglass frames for salvage, the proceeds to go into the club's sight conservation fund.

Containers will be distributed throughout the city, and a house to house canvass is planned. Fisher said a concerted two-week drive is proposed.

Francis M. Andrews, superintendent of the Maryland School for the Blind at Overlea, near Baltimore, was the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the club at Central YMCA yesterday.

Andrews reported that about $300 of the $1,000 which the club set aside several months ago for the 11 county students now attending the school has been spent.

One of those students, Hugh Arnold, 18, a Lonaconing youth who has attended the school for the past 12 years, was a guest at the meeting.

Young Arnold, who is captain of the school's wrestling team and a member of the track team, placed third in wrestling in the 145-pound class at the Maryland Scholastic Association meet in Baltimore earlier this month. He won the championship in the 138-pound class in a tournament at Staunton, Va., in February for contestants from schools for the blind.

Andrews, who was introduced by George Sellers, chairman of the club's sight conservatilon committee, explained the school is a private institution which is state-aided. Pupils range in age from 6 to 18, and follow the same courses of study as in Baltimore schools. Eleventh and 12th grade students attend high schools.

Andrews explained parents of the students pay nothing for sending them ti the school, adding that state and county aid accounts for about $900 of the $1,000 to $1,200 per capita annual cost. The demainder is obtained through income from a small endowment fund, and donations such as that made by the local club.

He added that three groups of teachers are required for the white blind, the colored blind and the colored deaf students.

Sees Chance For Harmony, Progress

Mayor Thomas S. Post, re-elected Tuesday for a third term, said last night that as soon as official returns have been announced he plans to contact each member of the council in an effort to get them to attend a caucus for the purpose of discussing appointments and policy.

The Mayor declared, "From all indications, it appears now the city has a good council-elect, and one that has a better than average chance to work in harmony for the general public good. I believe these men can work together. I sincerely hope so," he added, "because our town needs to make some progress so very badly. I am indeed greatly encouraged."

In political circles yesterday, there was much discussion over the results of the election. Observers seemed in general agreement, however, that Mayor Post may find himself in a better position than he has been during his previous two terms. Mayor Post has frequently complained that he has been outvoted three to two on many issues, and observers seem to believe that the new council might give the Mayor the chance he has sought to get his program and policies carried out.

The new council, according to unofficial returns, includes William H. Buchholtz, Edgar Reynolds, William V. Keegan and William J. Edwards. Together with Mayor Post, the council will take office and organize Monday, April 5.

In Better Position

The way observers see the situation, the absence of publicly drawn slates in the election may have strengthened Mayor Post's position considerably.

Buchholtz entered the primary and general election independent of either political organization known to be backing Post and his opponent, Roy W. Eves. Buchholtz still declares he is an independent, but is aware of support given him by the Post organization.

Reynolds also reputedly rejected offers to be "slated" and told people close to him, "I am trying to get back in council as an independent." During his 10 years in office, up to four years ago, Reynolds had a record of being co-operative and his voting record shows him to have been generally independent of outside influence, some observers recall.

With the record showing Keegan and Edwards voting together much of the time, and with the possibility that the two new councilmen may not have political alliance or obligation, it appeared that there is an outside chance Mayor Post can have what he terms "more harmony," and will not always be "out-voted three to two."

Two Major Appointments

The two major appointments to be made, that of city solicitor, now held by Thomas B. Finan, and that of tax collector, now held by Charles F. Burke, Jr., are the two choice political plums. It was indicated yesterday, some of the council members favor holding an early caucus, to decide on these appointments.

While there was no official indication, it was generally assumed Keegan will remain police and fire commissioner, and Edwards will retain his post as commissioner of water and lights.

During his campaign, Buchholtz made it generally known that he was interested in being finance commissioner since his business experience is along that line, and Reynolds who was formerly commissioner of streets and public property for 10 years is regarded as a natural for that position.

Raymond Dreyer, 342 Davidson Street, obtained a permit to build an open porch at the back of his home at an estimated cost of $150. The foundation will consist of concrete block posts, with frame walls and a composition roof. Work will be done by the owner.

A permit was granted to Glenn R. Kemmet, 545 Cromwell Terrace, to build a one and one-half story house, on Lot 1, Glenora Addition, Valley Road. Cost is estimated at $5,000.
